YALE UNIVERSITY

WITH THE TITLES OF THEIR DISSERTATIONS

1861-1915

PREPARED BY THE GRADUATE SCHOOL
PUBLISHED BY THE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN
APRIL 1916

Certainly Yale and Sheffield are entitled to the credit of introducing among American institutions the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, demanding for it a high standard of attainments, and never bestowing the honor (not in a single case so far as I can remember) by any irregular promotion.—The Sheffield School of Yale University, by President Gilman of Johns Hopkins University.

Historically, the account should begin with Yale College, where in 1846 graduate courses in "Philosophy and the Arts" were established and the attempt was made to superadd on the old framework of the college the four faculties of law, medicine, theology, and philosophy. . . . The honor of having established the first creditable course of study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy is due to Yale.—Second Annual Report of the President and Treasurer of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, 1907, p. 86.

PREFACE

The list presented in this pamphlet was prepared by the Graduate School of Yale University, in coöperation with the University Secretary's Office, and is a complete list of all who have received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Yale University. The names are classified and arranged chronologically under the departments in which the principal work was done, in accordance with the present division of departments in the Graduate School. In the earlier years the departments were grouped and less clearly defined, and therefore it has been necessary to list a few names at the end with the department undetermined. Owing to the incompleteness of the earlier records, in a few instances the titles of the dissertations cannot be stated. The list states the degrees of each person; the title of the dissertation, and, in case it has been printed, the title as printed, if varying from the original, with full bibliographical data; and the present or latest position or the occupation and address of each person according to the most recent information obtainable, and, in case of those not living, the former principal positions as far as known.

The Graduate School was first formally organized in 1847. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy was first offered in 1860, and was first conferred in 1861, and first conferred upon women in 1894. From 1861 to and including 1915 the degree has been conferred upon 749 men and 99 women, a total of 848. Of this number 789 are living.

The earliest degrees were conferred in the departments of Classics (1861), Physics (1861), Mathematics (1862), Chemistry (1866), Geology (1867), and Zoology (1867). Later the chronological order of the first degrees conferred in the departments was as follows: Philosophy and Education (1874), English (1875), Social Sciences (1877), Physiological Chemistry (1880), History (1882), Semitics (1888), Romance Languages (1894), German (1896), and Botany (1899). The following tables show that the numerical growth was slow up to 1889, in which year 13 degrees were conferred. In no one year of this early period (before 1889) were there more than 7 recipients, with an average of about 3 for each year. 23 degrees were conferred in 1891, and 44 were conferred in 1909, the maximum number for any one year to date. From an average of 3 per year, the number rose to an average of 16 during the period from 1890 to 1894, to 27 for the next five years, and to 33 from 1900 to 1915.

IN THE DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

1862

John Hunter Worrall, B.A. Yale University 1856.

Dissertation: (Title not known.)

Principal, Mathematical and Classical Institute, Westchester, Pa.

Died 1892.

1866

Charles Greene Rockwood, Jr., B.A. Yale University 1864.

Dissertation: The daily motion of a brick tower caused by solar heat. (Published in American Journal of Science, 3d series, 2:177-183. New Haven, 1871.)

Professor of Mathematics, Princeton University, Princeton, N. J.

Died 1913.

Augustus Jay DuBois, Ph.B. Yale University 1869, C.E. 1870.

Dissertation: Strains in framed structures. (Incorporated in his book, The elements of graphical statics and their application to framed structures, John Wiley and Son, New York, 1875.)

Professor of Civil Engineering, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Died 1915.

Mansfield Merriman, Ph.B. Yale University 1871, C.E. 1872.

Dissertation: Elements of the method of least squares. (Published as follows: Elements of the method of least squares, Macmillan and Company, London, 1877; A text-book on the method of least squares, John Wiley and Sons, New York, 1884; Metodo de los cuadrados minimos, M. Biedma, Buenos Ayres, 1889.)

Professor of Civil Engineering, Lehigh University (1878-1907.)
1071 Madison Ave., New York City.

Joseph John Skinner, Ph.B. Yale University 1869, C.E. 1874.

Dissertation: Approximate computations. (Published as follows: Principles of approximate computations, Henry Holt and Company, New York, 1876.)

Instructor and Assistant Professor of Mathematics, Massachusetts Institute of Technology (1885-1904).

Kenwood, Madison County, N. Y.

1877

Andrew Wheeler Phillips, Ph.B. Yale University 1872, M.A. Trinity College 1875.

Dissertation: On three-bar motion.

Professor of Mathematics and Dean of the Graduate School, Yale University, until 1911.

Died 1915.

Thomas Alexander Smith, B.A. Muskingum College 1872.

Dissertation: Computation of the orbit of Electra.

Hale Professor of Mathematics and Physics, Emeritus, Beloit College, Beloit, Wis.

1880

Thomas Marcus Blakslee, Ph.B. Colgate University 1874.

Dissertation: The orbit of Swift's comet of July 1878.

Professor of Mathematics, Emeritus, Des Moines College, Des Moines, Ia.

1885

Jefferson Engel Kershner, B.A. Franklin and Marshall College 1877.

Dissertation: The determination of longitude between New Haven and Harvard College Observatory, Cambridge.

Professor of Mathematics, Physics, and Applied Electricity, Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa.

Charles Newton Little, B.A. University of Nebraska 1879, M.A. 1884.

Dissertation: On knots, with a census for order ten. (Published in Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, 7:27-43. New Haven, 1885.)

Professor of Civil Engineering and Dean of the College of Engineering, University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho.

Eliakim Hastings Moore, B.A. Yale University 1883, Ph.D. University of Göttingen 1899.

Dissertation: Extensions of certain theorems of Clifford and of Cayley in the geometry of n dimensions. (Published in Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences 7:9-26. New Haven, 1885.)

Professor, and Head of Department, of Mathematics, University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.

Asaph Hall, B.A. Harvard University 1882.

Dissertation: The mass of Saturn and the orbit of Titan. (Published as follows: Determination of the orbit of Titan and the mass of Saturn, Transactions of the Astronomical Observatory of Yale University, 1:107-147. New Haven, 1887-1904.)

Professor of Mathematics, United States Navy, Washington, D. C.

Frederick Lincoln Chase, B.A. University of Colorado 1886.

Dissertation: Triangulation of the Victoria companion stars. (In part incorporated in, A determination of the solar parallax from heliometer observations of the minor planets Iris, Victoria and Sappho, Vol. I, Annals of the Cape Observatory, 6:1-244. London, 1897.)

Astronomer in the Observatory, Yale University (1891-1913).
Boulder, Col.

Percey Franklyn Smith, Ph.B. Yale University 1888.

Dissertation: Plücker's complexes of lines.

James E. English Professor of Mathematics, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

1894

Margaretta Palmer, B.A. Vassar College 1887.

Dissertation: Determination of the orbit of the comet 1847 VI. (Published in Transactions of the Astronomical Observatory of Yale University, 1:183-207. New Haven, 1893.)

Assistant in the Observatory, Yale University.

1895

Charlotte Cynthia Barnum, B.A. Vassar College 1881.

Dissertation: Functions having lines or surfaces of discontinuity.
344 Humphrey St., New Haven, Conn.

Jesse Breland Johnson, B.A. Yale University 1893.

Dissertation: Bicircular quartics.

Professor of Mathematics, Baylor University, Waco, Texas.

1896

Elizabeth Street Dickerman, B.A. Smith College 1894.

Dissertation: Curves of the first and second degree in $x y z$ where $x y z$ are conics having two points common.

140 Cottage St., New Haven, Conn.

Shunkichi Kimura, B.S. Imperial University of Japan 1887.

Dissertation: Studies on general spherical functions.

Wireless Engineer in the Naval Electrical Laboratory, Tokyo, Japan.

1897

William Anthony Granville, Ph.B. Yale University 1893.

Dissertation: The origin and development of the addition-theorem in elliptic functions.

President of Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, Pa.

1898

George Tucker Sellew, B.A. University of Rochester 1889, M.A.
1892.

Dissertation: On the complex number.

Professor of Mathematics, Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.

George Pratt Starkweather, Ph.B. Yale University 1891, M.E.
1894.

Dissertation: The thermodynamic relations for water steam.
(Published as follows: The thermodynamic relations for steam, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 7:129-142.
New Haven, 1899.)

Assistant Professor of Applied Mechanics, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Died 1901.

Wendell Melville Strong, B.A. Yale University 1893, M.A. Cornell University 1894, LL.B. New York University 1903.

Dissertation: On the necessity of continuity in Euclid's geometry.

(Published as follows: Is continuity of space necessary to Euclid's geometry? Bulletin of the American Mathematical Society, New series, 4:338-443. New York, 1898.)

Associate Actuary, Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, New York, N. Y.

Jacob Westlund, Karolinska Laroverket, Orebro, Sweden 1885.

Dissertation: Some new equations of transformation. (Published as follows: On a class of equations of transformation, American Journal of Mathematics, 21:339-353. Baltimore, 1899.)

Professor of Mathematics, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.

1899

Leona May Peirce, B.A. Smith College 1886, M.A. 1893.

Dissertation: On chain-differentiants of a ternary quantic.

247 Union St., Springfield, Mass.

1900

Herbert Edwin Hawkes, B.A. Yale University 1896.

Dissertation: Examination and extension of Peirce's Linear Associative Algebra. (Published in part as follows: Estimate of Peirce's Linear Associative Algebra, American Journal of Mathematics, 24:87-95. Baltimore, 1902.)

Professor of Mathematics, Columbia University, New York, N. Y.

Arthur Sullivan Gale, B.A. Yale University 1899.

Dissertation: On a particular class of algebraic minimum curves and surfaces. (Published as follows: On the rank, order, and class of algebraic minimum curves, Transactions of American Mathematical Society, 3:451-466. New York, 1902.)

Fayerweather Professor of Mathematics, and Head of Department, University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y.

Laurence Ilsley Hewes, B.S. Dartmouth College 1898.

Dissertation: Some properties of path-curves of continuous projective groups.

Senior Highway Engineer, Office of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Joshua Larson, B.A. Augustana College 1889, M.A. Yale University 1899.

Dissertation: A computation of the orbit of Σ 3062. (Published in part as follows: Orbit of Σ 3062, Astronomical Journal, 22:11-12. Boston, 1901.)

Professor of Latin and Mathematics, and Vice President and Treasurer, Minnesota College, Minneapolis, Minn.

Edwin Hoyt Lockwood, Ph.B. Yale University 1888.

Dissertation: Atmospheric stability as affected by water vapor. Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Edwin Bidwell Wilson, B.A. Harvard University 1899.

Dissertation: The decomposition of the general collineation in space into three skew reflections. (Published in part in Transactions of the American Mathematical Society, 1:193-196. New York, 1900.)

Professor of Mathematics, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.

Ruth Goulding Wood, B.L. Smith College 1898.

Dissertation: Non-Euclidean displacements and symmetry transformations. (Published as follows: Correlations of space which transform a non-degenerate quadric surface into itself, Annals of Mathematics, series 2, 2:161-171. Cambridge, 1901.)

Professor of Mathematics, Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

Helen Abbot Merrill, B.A. Wellesley College 1886.

Dissertation: On solutions of differential equations which possess an oscillation theorem. (Published in part in Transactions of the American Mathematical Society, 4:423-433. New York, 1903.)

Professor of Mathematics, Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass.

Carl Eben Stromquist, B.S. Bethany College (Kansas) 1889.

Dissertation: On a special case of the generalized integral of length, together with certain contributions to the general theory. (Published in revised form as follows: On geometries in which circles are the shortest lines, Transactions of the American Mathematical Society, 7:175-183. New York, 1906.)

Professor of Mathematics, University of Wyoming, Laramie, Wyo.

Edward Lewis Dodd, B.A. Western Reserve University 1897.

Dissertation: Multiple sequences. (Published in part as follows: On iterated limits of multiple sequences, Mathematische Annalen, 61:95-108. Leipzig, 1905.)

Adjunct Professor of Actuarial Mathematics, University of Texas, Austin, Texas.

Burke Smith, B.S. University of Washington 1899.

Dissertation: On surfaces which may be deformed with preservation of a conjugate system of curves. (Published in part in Bulletin of the American Mathematical Society, New series, as follows: On the deformation of surfaces of translation, 11:187-191. New Haven, 1905; Certain surfaces admitting of continuous deformation with preservation of conjugate lines, 12:164-171; Determination of associated surfaces, 12:342-346. New Haven, 1906; and also, Conditions for the deformation of surfaces referred to a conjugate system of lines, Proceedings of the Indiana Academy of Science, 1904:241-243. Indianapolis, 1905.)

Electrical Engineer, Central Group of Bell Telephone Companies, Chicago, Ill.

Clara Eliza Smith, B.A. Mount Holyoke College 1902.

Dissertation: Representation of an arbitrary function by means of Bessel's functions. (Published in part as follows: A theorem of Abel and its application to the development of a function in terms of Bessel's functions, Transactions of the American Mathematical Society, 8:92-106. New York, 1907.)

Associate Professor of Mathematics, Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass.

Raymond Benedict McClenon, B.A. Yankton College 1902.

Dissertation: On simple integrals with variable limits.

Associate Professor of Mathematics, Grinnell College, Grinnell, Ia.

James Caddall Morehead, B.A. Roanoke College 1898, M.A. 1899, M.S. Princeton University 1900.

Dissertation: Numbers of the forms $2^k q = 1$ and Fermat's numbers. (Published in revised form, as follows: Extension of the sieve of Eratosthenes to arithmetical progressions and applications, Annals of Mathematics, 2d series, 10:88-104. Cambridge, 1908.)

Instructor in Mathematics, School of Applied Design, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa.

1906

Roland George Dwight Richardson, B.A. Acadia College 1898, B.A. Yale University 1903, M.A. 1904.

Dissertation: Improper multiple integrals. (Published in Transactions of the American Mathematical Society, as follows: Multiple improper integrals, 7:449-458. New York, 1906; the remainder incorporated in the article, The integration of a sequence of functions and its application to iterated integrals, 9:339-356. New York, 1908.)

Professor of Mathematics, and Head of Department, Brown University, Providence, R. I.

Gustaf Eric Wahlin, B.A. Bethany College (Kansas) 1903.

Dissertation: The relation between the binary quadratic forms and the quadratic numerical bodies.

Associate in Mathematics, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

1907

Henry H. Conover, B.S. Rutgers College 1900, M.S. Yale University 1902.

Dissertation: On certain problems in the calculus of variations. 711 St. Paul St., Baltimore, Md.

1908

Earl Gordon Bill, B.A. Acadia College 1902, B.A. Yale University 1906, M.A. 1906.

Dissertation: An a priori existence theorem for three dimensions in the calculus of variations. (Published as follows: First part as, The construction of a space field of extremals, Bulletin of the American Mathematical Society, 15:374-378. New York 1909; second part as, An existence theorem for a problem of the calculus of variations in space, Transactions of the American Mathematical Society, 13:50-58. New York, 1912.)

Assistant Professor of Mathematics, Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H.

Francis Jerome Holder, B.S. National Normal University 1896,
M.A. Yale University 1905.

Dissertation: Multiple series.

Professor, and Head of Department, of Mathematics, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ernest Barnes Lytle, B.S. University of Illinois 1901, M.A. 1904.

Dissertation: Multiple integrals over iterable fields. (Published in part as follows: Proper multiple integrals over iterable fields, Transactions of the American Mathematical Society, 11:25-36. New York, 1910.)

Associate in Mathematics, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

Euphemia Richardson Worthington, B.A. Wellesley College
1904.

Dissertation: Some theorems on surfaces.

Instructor in Mathematics, Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass.

1909

Horace Thomas Burgess, B.A. Yale University 1906, M.A. 1907.

Dissertation: Point-circle correlations. (Published in part as follows: The circular numbers for a plane curve, Annals of Mathematics, 13:123-128. Princeton, 1912.)

Assistant Professor of Mathematics, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

George Frederick Gundelfinger, Ph.B. Yale University 1906.

Dissertation: On the geometry of line elements in the plane with reference to osculating vertical parabolas and circles. (Published as follows: On the geometry of line elements in the plane with reference to osculating circles, American Journal of Mathematics, 33:153-174. Baltimore, 1911.)

Literary work, Sewickley, Pa.

Mary Shore Walker (Mrs. Albert W. Hull), B.A. University of Missouri 1903, M.A. 1904.

Dissertation: A generalized definition of an improper multiple integral.

49 Bedford Road, Schenectady, N. Y.

1910

John Kenyon Lamond, B.S. Rhode Island College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts 1907, M.A. 1907, M.A. Yale University 1908.

Dissertation: Improper multiple integrals depending on a parameter. (Published in part as follows: Improper multiple integrals over iterable fields, Transactions of the American Mathematical Society, 13:434-444. New York, 1912.)

Associate Professor of Mathematics, Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.

Ernest Wilson Sheldon, B.A. McGill University 1904, M.A. 1905, B.A. Yale University 1907.

Dissertation: Critical revision of de Haan's Tables of definite integrals. (Published in American Journal of Mathematics, 34:89-114. Baltimore, 1912.)

Professor of Mathematics, University of Alberta, Edmonton South, Alta., Canada.

1911

Harry Leslie Agard, B.A. Wesleyan University 1904, M.A. Yale University 1908.

Dissertation: The extension of some theorems in the theory of sets of points to n -dimensional space.

Assistant Professor of Mathematics, Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.

Ida Barney, B.A. Smith College 1908.

Dissertation: Line and surface integrals. (Published in American Journal of Mathematics, 36:137-150. Baltimore, 1914.)

Instructor in Mathematics, Smith College, Northampton, Mass.

Burton Howard Camp, B.A. Wesleyan University 1901, B.A. Harvard University 1903, M.A. 1907.

Dissertation: The convergence of singular integrals. (Published in part as follows: Singular multiple integrals with applications to series, Transactions of the American Mathematical Society, 14:42-64. New York, 1913.)

Professor of Mathematics, Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.

John Lewis Jones, Ph.B. Lafayette College 1905, M.A. Yale University 1909.

Dissertation: Number-concept.

Instructor in Mathematics, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Wallace Alvin Wilson, B.A. Yale University 1905.

Dissertation: Theory of point-aggregates applied to Lebesgue integrals. (Incorporated in Lectures on the theory of functions of real variables, by James Pierpont, Ginn and Company, Boston, 1912.)

Assistant Professor of Mathematics, Yale College.

1912

Archibald Lamont Daniels, Jr., B.A. University of Vermont 1907.

Dissertation: On the librations of bodies whose periods are one-third that of the disturbing body.

Instructor in Mathematics, Princeton University, Princeton, N. J.

Harley Richard Willard, B.A. Dartmouth College 1899, M.A. 1902, M.A. Yale University 1910.

Dissertation: On a family of oscillating orbits of short period (with a chart). (Published in Monthly Notices, Royal Astronomical Society, 73:471-484. London, 1913.)

Associate Professor of Mathematics, University of Maine, Orono, Me.

1913

Theodore Henry Brown, B.A. Yale University 1910, M.A. 1911.

Dissertation: The effect of radiation on a small particle revolving about Jupiter. (Published in Annals of Mathematics, 2d series, 16:22-31. Princeton, 1914.)

Instructor in Mathematics, Brown University, Providence, R. I.

Wilbur Haverfield Cramblet, B.A. Bethany College (W. Va.) 1910, M.A. 1910, M.A. Yale University 1911.

Dissertation: On intermediate functions, being an extension of semi-continuous or upper and lower functions to a classification of discontinuous functions.

Professor of Mathematics, Phillips University, Enid, Okla.

1915

Henry Benjamin Hedrick, B.A. George Washington University 1886, M.A. Yale University 1912.

Dissertation: Some principles and processes in the construction of mathematical tables.

Chief Computer on the Lunar Tables, Yale University.

Paul Reece Rider, B.A. William Jewell College 1909, M.A. 1910,
M.A. Yale University 1914.

Dissertation: An extension of Bliss's form of the problem of the calculus of variations, with applications to the generalization of angle.

Instructor in Mathematics, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

IN THE DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICS

1861

Arthur Williams Wright, B.A. Yale University 1859.

Dissertation: Having given the velocity and direction of motion of a meteor on entering the atmosphere of the earth, to determine its orbit about the sun, taking into account the attractions of both these bodies.

Professor of Experimental Physics, Emeritus, Yale College.

Died 1916.

1863

Josiah Willard Gibbs, B.A. Yale University 1858, Ph.D. Erlangen 1893.

Dissertation: On the form of the teeth of wheels in spur gearing.

Professor of Mathematical Physics, Yale College.

Died 1903.

1866

Francis Englesby Loomis, B.A. Yale University 1864, M.A. University of Göttingen 1869, Ph.D. 1869.

Dissertation: Periodic stars. (Incorporated in Inaugural dissertation for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the University of Göttingen, printed at the University Press, by W. Fr. Kaestner, Göttingen, 1869.)

Care of Baring Brothers and Company, London, England.

Charles Sheldon Hastings, Ph.B. Yale University 1870.

Dissertation: Comparison of the spectra of the limb and of the center of the sun, made at the Sheffield Scientific School. (Published in American Journal of Science, 3d series, 5:369-371. New Haven, 1873.)

Professor of Physics, Emeritus, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

1874

Joseph Taplin Lovewell, B.A. Yale University 1857.

Dissertation: Graphical methods in physics, with special applications to wave lengths and numbers in spectrum analysis. Secretary, Kansas Academy of Science, Topeka, Kans.

1876

Edward Alexander Bouchet, B.A. Yale University 1874.

Dissertation: On measuring refractive indices, etc. Principal, Lincoln High School, Gallipolis, O.

Arthur Elmore Bostwick, B.A. Yale University 1881.

Dissertation: The influence of light on the electrical resistance of metals. (Published in American Journal of Science, 3d series, 28:133-145. New Haven, 1884.) Librarian, St. Louis Public Library, St. Louis, Mo.

Julius Howard Pratt, Jr., B.A. Yale University 1882.

Dissertation: The theory and uses of the capillary electrometer of Lippmann. (Published in part as follows: Experiments with the capillary electrometer of Lippmann, American Journal of Science, 3d series, 35:143-151. New Haven, 1888.) Dean of Academic Department, German-English Academy, Milwaukee, Wis.

1892

John Whitmore, B.A. Yale University 1886.

Dissertation: A method of increasing the range of the capillary electrometer. (Published in American Journal of Science, 3d series, 44:64-70. New Haven, 1892.) Exeter, N. H.

1893

Frederick Elijah Beach, Ph.B. Yale University 1883.

Dissertation: The use of cupric nitrate in the voltameter, and the electro-chemical equivalent of copper. (Published in American Journal of Science, 3d series, 46:81-88. New Haven, 1893.) Assistant Professor of Physics, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

1894

Arthur Louis Day, B.A. Yale University 1892.

Dissertation: The seconds pendulum: determination for New Haven.

Director, Geophysical Laboratory, Carnegie Institution, Washington, D. C.

1895

Arthur Chambers Alexander, Ph.B. Yale University 1889.

Dissertation: The specific rotation of some vegetable proteids. Civil Engineer, Honolulu, Hawaii.

1896

Leslie Dayton Bissell, B.A. Yale University 1887.

Dissertation: An absolute determination of the length of the seconds pendulum for New Haven.

Head Master, Coit School for Boys, Munich, Germany.

1897

Joseph Bowden, Jr., B.A. Yale University 1891.

Dissertation: Chapters in the electro-magnetic theory of light. Professor of Mathematics, Adelphi College, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Henry Andrews Bumstead, B.A. Johns Hopkins University 1891.

Dissertation: A comparison of electrodynamic theories.

Professor of Physics, and Director of the Sloane Physics Laboratory, Yale College.

Horace Mann Snyder, B.A. Yale University 1895.

Dissertation: The residual charge in stratified and non-homogeneous dielectrics.

Principal, Public School No. 122, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Lee DeForest, Ph.B. Yale University 1896.

Dissertation: Reflection of electric waves of very high frequencies at the ends of parallel wires. (Published as follows: Reflection of Hertzian waves at the ends of parallel wires, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 8:58-71. New Haven, 1899.)

Vice-President and General Manager, DeForest Radio Telegraph and Telephone Company, New York, N. Y.

Arthur Woolsey Ewell, B.A. Yale University 1897.

Dissertation: Rotary polarization of light in media subjected to torsion. (Published in part as follows: American Journal of Science, 4th series, 8:89-100. New Haven, 1899; Rotations polarisation des Lichtes in Medien welche der Torsion unterworfen werden, Physikalische Zeitschrift, 1:201-202. Leipzig, 1900.)

Professor of Physics, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, Mass.

Joseph Hall Hart, B.A. Yale University 1898.

Dissertation: The action of light on magnetism. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 10:66-73. New Haven, 1900.)

William Kent Shepard, Ph.B. Yale University 1897.

Dissertation: A new solution for the copper voltameter. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 12:49-56. New Haven, 1901.)

Assistant Professor of Strength of Materials, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Edgar Selah Downs, B.A. Yale University 1898.

Dissertation: The induced alternating current discharge studied with reference to its spectrum, and especially the ultra-violet spectrum. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 12:66-73. New Haven, 1901.)

President of the E. S. Downs Company, Contracting Electrical Engineers, Philadelphia, Pa.

Chauncey Brewster Rice, Ph.B. Yale University 1894.

Dissertation: An experimental study of the Wehnelt interrupter. Associated with Atwood Machine Company, Stonington, Conn.

Julius Olsen, B.S. Bethany College (Kansas) 1898.

Dissertation: An experimental investigation into the existence of free ions in aqueous solution of electrolytes. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 14:237-248. New Haven, 1902.)

Professor of Physical Science, Acting Dean, and Secretary of the Faculty, Simmons College, Abilene, Texas.

Lynde Phelps Wheeler, Ph.B. Yale University 1894.

Dissertation: On the reflection of light from mercury in water.
(Published, with additions, as follows: An experimental investigation on the reflection of light at certain metal-liquid surfaces, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 32:85-100. New Haven, 1911.)

Assistant Professor of Physics, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

1903

Allan Douglas Risteen, B.S. Worcester Polytechnic Institute 1885.

Dissertation: The numerical evaluation of the absolute thermodynamic scale of temperature.

Safety Engineer, The Travelers Insurance Company, Hartford, Conn.

1904

Howard Logan Bronson, B.A. Yale University 1900.

Dissertation: On the transverse vibrations of helical springs.
(Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 18:59-72. New Haven, 1904.)

George Munro Professor of Physics, Dalhousie University, Halifax, N. S.

Oliver Clarence Lester, B.A. Central College 1897, M.A. 1898, M.A. Yale University 1902.

Dissertation: On the oxygen absorption bands of the solar-spectrum. (Published in the Astrophysical Journal, 20:81-104. Chicago, 1904; and in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 18:147-156. New Haven, 1904.)

Professor, and Head of the Department, of Physics, University of Colorado, Boulder, Col.

Haroutune Murgurdich Dadourian, B.S. St. Paul's Institute (Tarsus) 1899, Ph.B. Yale University 1903, M.A. 1905.

Dissertation: On the radioactivity of underground air and on some radioactive properties of thorium. (Published as follows: The radio-activity of thorium, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 21:427-432. New Haven, 1906.)

Instructor in Physics, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Ellis Earle Lawton, B.S. University of Rochester 1902, M.A. Yale University 1905.

Dissertation: Wave-lengths and structural relation of certain bands in the spectrum of nitrogen. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 24:101-108. New Haven, 1907.)

Associate Professor of Electrical Engineering, College of Applied Science, Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.

Perry Blaine Perkins, B.A. University of New Brunswick 1902, B.A. Harvard University 1903, M.A. Yale University 1904.

Dissertation: A determination of the molecular weight of radium emanation by comparing its rate of diffusion with that of mercury vapor. (Published as follows: A determination of the molecular weight of radium emanation by the comparison of its rate of diffusion with that of mercury vapor, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 25:461-473. New Haven, 1908.)

Assistant Professor of Applied Physics, Brown University, Providence, R. I.

Charlton Dows Cooksey, Ph.B. Yale University 1905.

Dissertation: Corpuscular secondary Röntgen rays. (Published as follows: On the corpuscular rays produced in different metals by Röntgen rays, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 24:285-304. New Haven, 1907.)

Instructor in Physics, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Albert Wallace Hull, B.A. Yale University 1905.

Dissertation: Ionization produced by ultra-violet light of very short wave-lengths. (Published as follows: The initial velocities of the electrons produced by ultra-violet light, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 28:251-259. New Haven, 1909.)

Research Physicist, General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Thomas Smith Taylor, B.A. Yale University 1906.

Dissertation: The retardation of alpha rays by metal foils and gases, and its variation with the range of the alpha particles.

(Published in American Journal of Science as follows: On the retardation of "alpha rays" by metal foils, and its variation with the speed of the alpha particles, 4th series, 26:169-179. New Haven, 1908; On the retardation of alpha rays by metals and gases, 28:357-372. New Haven, 1909; also, Philosophical Magazine and Journal of Science, 6th series, 18:604-619. London, 1909.)

Assistant Professor of Physics, Yale College.

Frank Elbert Wheelock, B.A. Acadia College 1905.

Dissertation: On the nature of the ionization produced by α -rays. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 30:233-255. New Haven, 1910.)

Professor of Physics, and Dean of McClellan School of Applied Science, Mount Allison University, Sackville, N. B.

1911

James Cox Sanderson, B.A. Yale University 1907.

Dissertation: The probable influence of the soil on local atmospheric radioactivity. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 32:169-184. New Haven, 1911.)

Instructor in Science, Blake School, Minneapolis, Minn.

1912

William Raymond Barss, B.S. Acadia College 1907, B.A. Yale University 1909.

Dissertation: Ionization by collision in gases and vapors. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 34:229-241. New Haven, 1912.)

Instructor in Physics, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.

Alexander Graham McGougan, B.A. McGill University 1909.

Dissertation: The emission of electrons by metals under the influence of alpha rays. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 34:309-328. New Haven, 1912; also in Philosophical Magazine and Journal of Science, 6th series, 24:462-483. London, 1912.)

Instructor in Physics, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Samuel James Plimpton, Ph.B. Yale University 1905.

Dissertation: On the recombination of ions produced by Röntgen rays. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 35:39-53. New Haven, 1913; Philosophical Magazine and Journal of Science, 6th series, 25:65-81. London, 1913.)

Instructor in Physics, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, Mass.

Leigh Page, Ph.B. Yale University 1904.

Dissertation: The photoelectric effect. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 36:501-508. New Haven, 1913.)

Instructor in Physics, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Jay Walter Woodrow, B.A. Drake University 1907, B.A. Oxford University 1910.

Dissertation: Experiments on columnar ionization. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 36:214-230. New Haven, 1913; Philosophical Magazine and Journal of Science, 6th series, 26:511-528. London, 1913.)

Assistant Professor of Physics, University of Colorado, Boulder, Col.

Arsène Nishan Lucian, B.A. St. Paul's College (Tarsus) 1906, Ph.B. Yale University 1911.

Dissertation: The distribution of the active deposit of actinium in electric fields. (Published as follows: The distribution of the active deposit of actinium in an electric field, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 38:539-555. New Haven, 1914; Philosophical Magazine and Journal of Science, 6th series, 28:761-778. London, 1914.)

Instructor in Physics, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

John Milton Miller, B.A. Yale University 1904, M.A. 1907.

Dissertation: The effective resistance and inductance of iron and bimetallic wires.

Assistant Physicist, Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

Robert Alexander Patterson, B.A. Yale University 1911, M.A.
1912.

Dissertation: The structure of the third cyanogen band.
Instructor in Physics, Yale College.

1870

Nelson Powell Hulst, B.A. Yale University 1867, Ph.B. 1869.

Dissertation: Investigation of chemical changes produced in the conversion of pig iron into malleable cast iron.

Connected with iron-mining operations (1876-1906).

300 Knapp St., Milwaukee, Wis.

1871

Oscar Dana Allen, Ph.B. Yale University 1861.

Dissertation: (Title not known.)

Professor of Metallurgy (1871-1887) and Analytical Chemistry (1874-1887), Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Died 1913.

Bernard James Harrington, B.A. McGill University 1869.

Dissertation: The Siemens-Martin steel process.

Professor of Metallurgy, Chemistry, and Mineralogy, McGill University, Montreal, Canada.

Died 1907.

1874

Charles Benjamin Dudley, B.A. Yale University 1871.

Dissertation: Salts of lithium and lithium glass.

Chemist to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Altoona, Pa.

Died 1909.

1877

William Barton Payne, B.A. University of Tennessee 1873.

Dissertation: Basic acetates of lead.

Pastor, Congregational Church, Cortland, Neb.

1879

Henry Prentiss Armsby, Ph.B. Yale University 1874.

Dissertation: The determination of albuminoids in feeding stuffs.

(Published in Annual Report of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, 1879:104-121. New Haven, 1880.)

Director of the Institute of Animal Nutrition, Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa.

Edward Hopkins Jenkins, B.A. Yale University 1872.

Dissertation: Methods for the determination of nitrogen. (Published in part in Annual Report of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, as follows: On the determination of nitrogen in the analysis of agricultural products, 1878:111-117. New Haven, 1879; reprint in American Chemical Journal, 1:77-83. Baltimore, 1879; On the determination of nitrogen, 1879:124-133. New Haven, 1880.)

Director, Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, New Haven, Conn.

1885

Thomas Burr Osborne, B.A. Yale University 1881.

Dissertation: The quantitative determination of niobium. (Published in American Journal of Science, 3d series, 30:329-337. New Haven, 1885.)

Chemist, Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, New Haven, Conn.

1891

Frederic William Mar, B.A. Yale University 1888.

Dissertation: Niobium, its history, compounds, and determination. (Unpublished. Other papers also submitted are the following: On the so-called perovskite from Magnet Cove, Arkansas, American Journal of Science, 3d series, 40:403-405, 1890; On certain points in the estimation of barium as the sulphate, American Journal of Science, 3d series, 41:288-295, New Haven, 1891.)

Principal, Public School No. 108, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Philip Embury Browning, B.A. Yale University 1889.

Dissertation: On the application of amyl alcohol to the separation of the alkaline earths. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 3d series, as follows: A method for the quantitative separation of strontium from calcium by the action of amyl alcohol on the nitrates, 43:50-56; A method for the quantitative separation of barium from calcium by the action of amyl alcohol on the nitrates, 43:314-317; On the qualitative separation and detection of strontium and calcium by the action of amyl alcohol on the nitrates, 43:386-388; A method for the quantitative separation of barium from strontium by the action of amyl alcohol on the bromides, 44:459-462; A note on the method for the quantitative separation of strontium from calcium by the action of amyl alcohol on the nitrates, 44:462-463. New Haven, 1892.)

Assistant Professor of Chemistry, Yale College.

Hippolyte Gruener, B.A. Yale University 1891.

Dissertation: The reducing action of hydriodic acid as applied in inorganic analysis, with special reference to the determination of nitric acid. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 3d series, as follows: A method for the determination of antimony and its condition of oxidation, 42:213-220. New Haven, 1891; A method for the iodometric determination of nitrates, 44:117-123. New Haven, 1892; On the iodometric determination of the nitrates, 46:42-50; The stability of standard solutions of tartar emetic, 46:206-208. New Haven, 1893.)

Professor of Chemistry, College for Women, Western Reserve University, Cleveland, O.

Henry Lord Wheeler, Ph.B. Yale University 1890.

Dissertation: The double halides of tellurium with potassium, rubidium, and caesium. (Published in American Journal of Science, 3d series, 45:267-279. New Haven, 1893.)

Assistant, Instructor, Assistant Professor, and Professor of Organic Chemistry, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University (1895-1911).

Died 1914.

1894

Charlotte Fitch Roberts, B.A. Wellesley College 1880.

Dissertation: The development and present aspect of stereochemistry. (Published by D. C. Heath and Company, Boston, 1896.)

Professor of Chemistry, Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass.

David Albert Kreider, B.A. Lebanon Valley College 1892.

Dissertation: Perchloric acid. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 3d series, as follows: The detection of alkaline perchlorates associated with chlorides, chlorates, and nitrates, 48:38-40. New Haven, 1894; The preparation of perchloric acid and its application to the determination of potassium, 49:443-448; The quantitative determination of perchlorates, 50:287-297. New Haven, 1895. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 7:13-16. 1894; 9:342-348. 1895; 10:277-288. Hamburg, 1895.)

Assistant Professor of Physics, Yale College.

Charlotte Fairbanks, B.A. Smith College 1894, M.D. Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania 1902.

Dissertation: The determination of phosphoric acid by methods involving the use of molybdic acid. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The iodometric estimation of molybdic acid, 2:156-162; An iodometric method for the determination of phosphorus in iron, 2:181-185. New Haven, 1896. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 13:101-109, 117-120. Hamburg, 1897.)

Physician, St. Johnsbury, Vt.

William Thomas Hildrup Howe, Ph.B. Yale University 1893.
Dissertation: The existence of two orthophthalic acids. (Published in American Chemical Journal, 18:390-401. Baltimore 1896.)

Boynton Wells McFarland, Ph.B. Yale University 1889, C.E. 1891.

Dissertation: The mercury salts of the anilides. (Published in American Chemical Journal, 18:540-547. Baltimore, 1896.)
Instructor in Chemistry, and Head of the Department, New Haven High School, New Haven, Conn.

Alton William Peirce, B.A. Yale University 1893.

Dissertation: Selenium in analysis. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The iodometric determination of selenious and selenic acids, 1:31-34; A method for the separation of selenium from tellurium based upon the difference in volatility of the bromides, 1:181-185; The gravimetric determination of selenium, 1:416-418; On the existence of selenium monoxide, 2:163-167. New Haven, 1896. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 11:249-253. 1896; 12:118-123, 409-412. 1896; 13:121-126. Hamburg, 1897.)

Special Agent, Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, Worcester, Mass.

Joseph Hyde Pratt, Ph.B. Yale University 1893.

[See Department of Geology.]

Percy Talbot Walden, Ph.B. Yale University 1892.

Dissertation: The double chlorides and bromides of caesium, rubidium, potassium, and ammonium with ferric iron. (Published as follows: On the double chlorides and bromides of caesium, rubidium, potassium, and ammonium with ferric iron, with a description of two ferro-ferric double bromides, American Journal of Science, 3d series, 48:283-290. New Haven, 1894. Translation in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 7:331-338. Hamburg, 1894.)

Assistant Professor of Chemistry, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Bertram Borden Boltwood, Ph.B. Yale University 1892.

Dissertation: Studies on chlorides.

Professor of Radio-Chemistry, Graduate School, Yale University.

Isaac King Phelps, B.A. Yale University 1894.

Dissertation: The determination of carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen, in the wet way. (Published in part in American Journal of Science as follows: The precipitation and gravimetric determination of carbon dioxide, 3d series, 50:101-103. New Haven, 1895; An iodometric method for the determination of carbon dioxide, 4th series, 2:70-74. New Haven, 1896; The combustion of organic substances in the wet way, 4th series, 4:372-382. New Haven, 1897. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 9:356-359. 1895; 12:431-435. 1896; 16:85-98. Hamburg, 1898.)

Chemist in charge of Organic Investigations Laboratory, Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Claude Frederic Walker, B.S. Massachusetts Agricultural College 1894, B.S. Boston University 1894.

Dissertation: Iodic acid in volumetric analysis. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The application of iodic acid to the analysis of iodides, 3:293-300; The titration of sodium thiosulphate with iodic acid, 4:235-242. New Haven, 1897. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 14:423-431. 1897; 16:99-108. Hamburg, 1898.)

First Assistant Teacher in Physical Science, and Chairman of Department of Physics, Boys' High School, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Martha Austin (Mrs. Isaac K. Phelps), B.S. Smith College 1892.

Dissertation: The estimation of manganese in analysis. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The estimation of manganese as the sulphate and as the oxide, 5:209-214; On the condition of oxidation of manganese precipitated by the chlorate process, 5:260-268; On the estimation of manganese separated as the carbonate, 5:382-384; On the determination of manganese as the pyrophosphate, 6:233-243. New Haven, 1898. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 17:264-271, 253-263, 272-275. 1898; 18:339-351. Hamburg, 1898.)

1410 M St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Bayard Barnes, Ph.B. Yale University 1895.

Dissertation: Investigations in organic chemistry. (Published as follows: On halogen addition-products of the anilides, American Chemical Journal, 19:672-682. Baltimore, 1897.)

7 Edgehill Road, New Haven, Conn.

Harry Ward Foote, Ph.B. Yale University 1895.

Dissertation: Investigations in chemistry and mineralogy (Incorporated in papers in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: On the occurrence of pollucite, manganocolumbite and microlite at Rumford, Me., 1:457-461. New Haven, 1896; On rœblingite, a new silicate from Franklin Furnace, N. J., containing sulphur dioxide and lead, 3:413-415; On wellsite, a new mineral, 3:443-448; On certain double halogen salts of cæsium and rubidium, 3:461-465; On the double fluorides of zirconium with lithium, sodium and thallium, 3:466-471; On bixbyite, a new mineral, and notes on the associated topaz, 4:105-108. New Haven, 1897; On the clinohedrite, a new mineral from Franklin, N. J., 5:289-290. New Haven, 1898.)

Professor of Physical Chemistry, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Franke Stuart Havens, B.A. Yale University 1896.

Dissertation: Analytical separations by hydrochloric acid. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: A method for the separation of aluminum from iron, 2:416-420. New Haven, 1896; The separation of aluminum and beryllium by the action of hydrochloric acid, 4:111-114. New Haven, 1897. Further separations of aluminum by hydrochloric acid, 6:45-48; On the separation of nickel and cobalt by hydrochloric acid, 6:396-398. New Haven, 1898; The volatilization of the iron chlorides in analysis, and the separation of the oxides of iron and aluminum, 7:370-374. Separation of iron from chromium, zirconium, and beryllium by the action of gaseous hydrochloric acid on the oxides, 8:217-218. New Haven, 1899. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 13:435-440. 1897; 16:15-18. 1898; 18:147-151, 378-381. 1898; 21:21-27, 389-391. Hamburg, 1899.) Assistant to President and Vice-President, Harrison Brothers and Company, Inc., Philadelphia, Pa.

Louis Cleveland Jones, B.A. Yale University 1896.

Dissertation: The estimation of boric acid. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The action of carbon dioxide on soluble borates, 5:442-446. New Haven, 1898; The estimation of boric acid, 7:34-40; A volumetric method for the estimation of boric acid, 7:147-153; An iodometric method for the estimation of boric acid, 8:127-132. New Haven, 1899. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 18:66-71. 1898; 20:212-220. 1899; 21:169-176. Hamburg, 1899.)

Chief Chemist, Solvay Process Company, and Semet Solvay Company, Syracuse, N. Y.

William Conger Morgan, B.A. Yale University 1896.

Dissertation: The stereochemistry of nitrogen. (Published in part in American Chemical Journal as follows: The ethers of isonitrosoguiacol in their relation to the space isomerism of nitrogen, 20:761-776. Baltimore, 1898; The ethers of toluquinoneoxime and their bearing on the space isomerism of nitrogen, 22:402-407; Notes on the space isomerism of the toluquinoneoxime ethers, 22:484-488. Baltimore, 1899.)

Professor of Chemistry, Reed College, Portland, Ore.

Charles Hyde Warren, Ph.B. Yale University 1896.

[See Department of Geology.]

William Valentine, Ph.B. Yale University 1897.

Dissertation: Researches on substitution: The action of bromine on metachlor-, metabrom-, and metaiodanilines. The examination of thiobenzoic acid in regard to its action on compounds containing amido, imido, and hydroxyl groups. (Published in part as follows: The action of bromine on metachlor-, metabrom-, and metaiodanilines, American Chemical Journal, 22:266-280. Baltimore, 1899.)

Manager of Sales, Naugatuck Chemical Company, Naugatuck, Conn.

Treat Baldwin Johnson, Ph.B. Yale University 1898.

Dissertation: Researches on amidines and imidoesters. (Incorporated in the following papers in the American Chemical Journal: On the rearrangement of imidoesters, 21:185-193. Baltimore, 1899; On the rearrangement of imidoesters, 23:135-150. Baltimore, 1900; On acetyl and benzoylimidodithiocarbonic esters, 26:185-206. Baltimore, 1901; Ueber Phenyl-p-Tolylformamidin und die Umlagerung von Imido-äthern, Berichte der Deutschen Chemischen Gesellschaft, 32:35-41. Berlin, 1899.)

Professor of Organic Chemistry, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

John Treadwell Norton, Jr., B.A. Yale University 1898.

Dissertation: The use of sodium thiosulphate in analysis. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The influence of hydrochloric acid in titrations by sodium thiosulphate, with special reference to the estimation of selenious acid, 7:287-293; The estimation of iron in the ferric state by reduction with sodium thiosulphate and titration with iodine, 8:25-30. New Haven, 1899; The titration of mercury by sodium thiosulphate, 10:48-54. New Haven, 1900; The action of sodium thiosulphate on solutions of metallic salts at high temperatures and pressures, 12:115-122. New Haven, 1901. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 20:221-229. 1899; 21:177-184. 1899; 24:411-419. 1900; 28:223-232. Hamburg, 1901.)

Analytical Chemist, Booth, Garrett & Blair, Philadelphia, Pa.

Charles Adams Peters, B.S. Boston University 1897.

Dissertation: Oxalic acid and the oxalates in analysis. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The titration of oxalic acid by potassium permanganate in presence of hydrochloric acid, 7:461-467; The determination of tellurous acid in presence of haloid salts, 8:122-126. New Haven, 1899; The separation and determination of mercury as mercurous oxalate, 9:401-406; The volumetric estimation of copper as the oxalate, with separation from cadmium, arsenic, tin and zinc, 10:359-367. New Haven, 1900; The estimation of calcium, strontium, and barium, as the oxalates, 12:216-224. New Haven, 1901. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 21:185-193, 405-410. 1899; 24:402-410. 1900; 26:111-122. 1901; 29:145-155. Hamburg, 1902.)

Associate Professor of Inorganic and Soil Chemistry, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, Mass.

Alling Prudden Beardsley, B.A. Wesleyan University 1898.

Dissertation: On the action of phenylhydrazine on acylthiocarbonic and acylimidothiocarbonic esters: pyro- α , β' -diazole derivatives; On the action of phenylhydrazine on benzoylpseudothioureas: 1, 5-diphenyl-3-amino-pyro- α , β 'diazole derivatives. (Published in condensed form in American Chemical Journal, 27:257-270. Baltimore, 1902; 29:73-82. Baltimore, 1903.)

Chemical Engineer, Cott-A-Lap Company, Bound Brook, N. J.

Frank Eugene Hale, B.A. Yale University 1900.

Dissertation: Starch and the dextrins in relation to iodometry.

(Published in part as follows: The initiative action of iodine and of other oxidizers in the hydrolysis of starch and dextrins, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 13:379-399. New Haven, 1902; On the relation of hydriodic acid and of its salts to the starch and dextrin iodides, American Chemical Journal, 28:438-450. Baltimore, 1902; On standard tartar emetic and its structural formula, Journal of the American Chemical Society, 24:828-847. Easton, Pa., 1902; Upon the structure of the starch molecule, School of Mines Quarterly, 24:145-170. Easton, Pa., 1902; Translation of the first paper in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 31:100-126. Hamburg, 1902.)

Director of Laboratories, Department of Water Supply, Gas, and Electricity, New York, N. Y.

Ralph Gibbs Van Name, B.A. Yale University 1899.

Dissertation: Analytical applications of the sulphocyanides.

(Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The sulphocyanides of copper and silver in gravimetric analysis, 10:451-457. New Haven, 1900; The influence of hydrochloric acid on the precipitation of cuprous sulphocyanide, 13:20-26; The estimation of copper as cuprous sulphocyanide in the presence of bismuth, antimony, tin and arsenic, 13:138-144. New Haven, 1902. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 26:230-238. 1901; 30:122-129. 1902; 31:92-99. Hamburg, 1902.)

Assistant Professor of Chemistry, Yale College.

John Charles Blake, B.S. University of Colorado 1901.

Dissertation: On colloidal silver and gold. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The colors of allotropic silver, 16:282-288; On colloidal gold: adsorption phenomena and allotropy, 16:381-387; Note on the composition of Bredig's silver hydrosols, 16:431-432; Behavior of red colloidal gold solutions toward the electric current and toward electrolytes, 16:433-441. New Haven, 1903. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 37:243-251. 1903; 39:69-71, 72-83. Hamburg, 1904.)

Professor of Chemistry, Hahnemann Medical College, Chicago, Ill.

William Ebenezer Ford, Ph.B. Yale University 1899.

[See Department of Geology.]

Henry Franklin Merriam, Ph.B. Yale University 1900.

Dissertation: Researches in organic and inorganic chemistry.

(Published in part as follows: On some condensation products of the pseudothiourreas: synthesis of uracil, thymine and similar compounds, American Chemical Journal, 29:478-492. Baltimore, 1903.)

Chemical Engineer, General Chemical Company, New York, N. Y.

Oscar Stoddard Pulman, Jr., B.A. Yale University 1900.

Dissertation: The quantitative determination of uranium, with applications to the estimation of phosphoric acid; to which is appended, A method for the determination of molybdic acid, with application to the estimation of phosphoric acid. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The estimation of molybdic acid reduced by hydriodic acid, 12:449-452. New Haven, 1901; The determination of uranium and uranyl phosphate by the zinc reductor, 16:229-239. New Haven, 1903. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 29:353-358. 1902; 37:113-124. Hamburg, 1903.)

Assistant Superintendent, National Carbon Company, Cleveland, O.

Robert William Curtis, B.S. Trinity College 1896.

Dissertation: The action of the halogen acids upon vanadic acid.

(Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 17:41-48. New Haven, 1904. Translation in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 38:246-255. Hamburg, 1904.)

Instructor in Chemistry, College of the City of New York, New York, N. Y.

Ralph Davis Gilbert, B.A. Boston University 1900, B.S. Massachusetts Agricultural College 1900.

Dissertation: The estimation of vanadium. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The precipitation of ammonium vanadate by ammonium chloride, 14:205-210. New Haven, 1902; The use of the zinc reductor in the estimation of vanadic acid, 15:389-391. New Haven, 1903. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 32:174-180. 1902; 35:420-423. Hamburg, 1903.)

Chemist, American Agricultural Chemical Company, Boston, Mass.

George Samuel Jamieson, Ph.B. Yale University 1901.

Dissertation: Researches in organic chemistry. (Published in Journal of the American Chemical Society as follows: Researches on thiocyanates and isothiocyanates, 24:743-754. Easton, Pa., 1902; On some aldehyde condensation products of arylpseudothiohydantoins, 25:366-371; On a class of pseudothioureas described as normal ureas, 25:719-722. Easton, Pa., 1903; also, Researches on pyrimidines: 2-oxy-4, 6-diamino pyrimidine, American Chemical Journal, 32:342-357. Baltimore, 1904.)

Assistant Professor of Analytical Chemistry, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Herbert Edwin Medway, B.A. Yale University 1900.

Dissertation: The use of a rotating cathode in the electrolytic determination of the metals. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The use of a rotating cathode in the electrolytic determination of the metals, 15:320-323. New Haven, 1903; Further work with the rotating cathode, 18:56-58; The material and shape of the rotating cathode, 18:180-182. New Haven, 1904. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 35:414-419. 1903; 42:110-113, 114-117. Hamburg, 1904.)

Moscow, Pa.

Andrew Lincoln Winton, Ph.B. Yale University 1884.

Dissertation: Studies in methods of proximate organic analysis. (Published as follows: Report of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station: Notes on the determination of starch, 128-142. New Haven, 1887 (also, Journal of Analytical Chemistry, 2:149-164. New Haven, 1888); Forage plants of the salt

Howard Stanley Bristol, Ph.B. Yale University 1902.

Dissertation: Researches in organic and inorganic chemistry. (Incorporated in papers in American Chemical Journal, as follows: Researches on pyrimidines: the structure of some substitution-products, 33:437-448; Researches upon pyrimidines: the action of potassium thiocyanate upon some imide chlorides, 33:448-460. Baltimore, 1905.)

Newport, R. I.

James Brown, B.A. Yale University 1902.

Dissertation: The interaction of hydrochloric acid and potassium permanganate in the presence of various inorganic salts. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The interaction of hydrochloric acid and potassium permanganate in the presence of ferric chloride, 19:31-38. New Haven, 1905; Further work on the interaction of hydrochloric acid and potassium permanganate in the presence of various inorganic salts, 21:41-57. New Haven, 1906. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 44:145-153; 47:314-330. Hamburg, 1905.)

Professor of Chemistry, Butler College, Indianapolis, Ind.

Charles Paxson Flora, B.A. Yale University 1902.

Dissertation: The estimation of cadmium. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The use of the rotating cathode for the estimation of cadmium taken as the sulphate, 20:268-276; The use of the rotating cathode for the estimation of cadmium taken as the chloride, 20:392-396; Additional notes upon the estimation of cadmium by means of the rotating cathode, and summary, 20:454-455; The estimation of cadmium as the oxide, 20:456-458. New Haven, 1905. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 47:1-12, 13-19, 20-22. Hamburg, 1905.)

Chemical Engineer with Hood Rubber Company, Watertown, Mass.

Ralph Nelson Maxson, B.S. Rhode Island State College 1902.
Dissertation: The estimation of small amounts of gold. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The iodometric determination of gold in dilute solution, 16:155-160. New Haven, 1903; The limit of error in the volumetric determination of small amounts of gold, 17:466-470. New Haven, 1904; The colorimetric determination of small amounts of gold, 21:270-274. Hamburg, 1906.)
Assistant Professor of Chemistry, University of Maine, Orono, Me.

Albert Hileman, B.A. Yale University 1903.
Dissertation: The determination of fluorine eliminated as silicon fluoride. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The elimination and alkalimetric estimation of silicon fluoride in the analysis of fluorides, 22:329-338; The estimation of fluorine iodometrically, 22:383-384. New Haven, 1906. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 51:158-170. 1906; 52:342-344. Hamburg, 1907.)

Died 1908.

Carl Oscar Johns, B.A. Bethany College 1899, M.A. 1902, Ph.B. Yale University 1904.

Dissertation: Researches in organic chemistry. (Published in part as follows: Researches on pyrimidines: the action of aqueous and alcoholic ammonia and aniline on some halogen and mercapto pyrimidines, American Chemical Journal, 34: 175-191; Researches on pyrimidines: 2, 5-diamino-6-oxypyrimidine, American Chemical Journal, 34:554-568. Baltimore, 1905; Researches on pyrimidines: some 5-iodopyrimidin derivatives: 5-iodocytosin, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 1:305-318. New York, 1905.)

Organic Chemist, Bureau of Chemistry, Washington, D. C.

Elmer Verner McCollum, B.A. University of Kansas 1903, M.A. 1904.

Dissertation: Researches in organic chemistry. (Incorporated in the following papers: Researches on pyrimidins: on methods of synthesizing isobarbituric acid and 5-oxycytosin, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 1:437-449. New York, 1906; Researches on pyrimidines: the action of potassium thiocyanate upon imide chlorides, American Chemical Journal, 36:136-148; Researches on pyrimidines: on the formation of purines from ureapyrimidines, American Chemical Journal, 36:149-159. Baltimore, 1906.)

Professor of Agricultural Chemistry, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

George Albert Menge, Ph.B. Yale University 1903.

Dissertation: Researches in organic and physical chemistry. (Incorporated in the following papers: On the action of phenylhydrazine on benzoylpseudoureas: 1, 5-diphenyl-3-aminopyrro- α , β' -diazole derivatives, American Chemical Journal, 32:358-372. Baltimore, 1904; The relative solubility of some difficultly soluble calcium and barium salts, American Chemical Journal, 35:432-445. Baltimore, 1906; Researches on pyrimidins: 5-ethylcytosin, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 2:105-115. New York, 1906.)

Dairy Chemist, Dairy Division, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Seth Enoch Moody, B.S. Dartmouth College 1898, M.S. Yale University 1904.

Dissertation: The hydrolysis of certain dissolved salts in presence of iodides and iodates. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The iodometric determination of aluminum in aluminum chloride and aluminum sulphate, 20:181-184. New Haven, 1905; The hydrolysis of salts of iron, chromium, tin, cobalt, nickel, and zinc in the presence of iodides and iodates, 22:176-184; The hydrolysis of salts of ammonium in the presence of iodides and iodates, 22:379-382; The iodometric determination of basic alumina and of free acid in aluminium sulphate and alums, 22:483-487. New Haven, 1906. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 46:423-427. 1905; 51:121-131. 1906; 52:281-285, 286-291. Hamburg, 1907.)

Assistant City Chemist, St. Louis, Mo.

David Lindsey Randall, B.A. Yale University 1904, M.A. 1905.

Dissertation: The use of potassium permanganate in the estimation of iron, mercury, and molybdenum. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The behavior of ferric chloride in the zinc reductor, 21:128-130. New Haven, 1906; The titration of mercurous salts with potassium permanganate, 23:137-140; The behavior of molybdic acid in the zinc reductor, 24:313-316. New Haven, 1907. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 48:389-392. 1906; 53:78-82. Hamburg, 1907.)

Professor of Chemistry, and Secretary of the Faculty, Baker University, Baldwin, Kansas.

Walter Minor Bradley, Ph.B. Yale University 1899.

Dissertation: The analysis and chemical composition of the mineral warwickite. (Published in American Journal of Science, 27:179-184. New Haven, 1909.)

Assistant in Mineralogy, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Samuel Hopkins Clapp, B.A. Yale University 1901.

Dissertation: Researches on pyrimidine derivatives. (Incorporated in the following papers: Researches on pyrimidins:

syntheses of some nitrogen-alkyl derivatives of cytosin, thymine, and uracil, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 5:49-70. Baltimore, 1908; Researches on halogen amino acids: 3, 5-dibromophenylalanine, American Chemical Journal, 40:337-348. Baltimore, 1908.)

291 High St., Pawtucket, R. I.

William Allen Drushel, B.S. National Normal University 1896, B.A. 1897, B.A. Yale University 1905.

Dissertation: The quantitative estimation of potassium. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: On the volumetric estimation of potassium as the cobalti-nitrate, 24:433-438. New Haven, 1907; The application of the cobalti-nitrite method to the estimation of potassium in soils, 26:329-332; The volumetric estimation of potassium in animal fluids, 26:555-562. New Haven, 1908. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 56:223-229. 1908; 59:97-101. 1908; 61:137-146. Hamburg, 1909.)

Assistant Professor of Chemistry, Yale College.

Frederick William Heyl, Ph.B. Yale University 1904.

Dissertation: Researches on pyrimidines. (Incorporated in papers in American Chemical Journal, as follows: Researches on pyrimidines: on 5-nitrocytosine and its reduction to 2-oxy-4, 5-diaminopyrimidine, 36:160-177. Baltimore, 1906; Researches on some condensation products of a substituted pseudothiourea: synthesis of 1-methyluracil, 37:628-637; Researches on pyrimidines: the action of methyl iodide on 2-anilino-6-oxypyrimidine, and the synthesis of 2-anilino-pyrimidine, 38:237-249. Baltimore, 1907.)

Chief Chemist, Upjohn Company, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Howard Douglas Newton, B.S. Boston University 1904.

Dissertation: On some new relations to titanium in analysis: the volumetric estimation of titanium, of iron in presence of titanium, and of iron and vanadium after reduction with titanous sulphate. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: A method for the estimation of iron in presence of titanium, 23:365-367. New Haven, 1907; A method for the volumetric estimation of titanium, 25:130-132; The estimation of iron by potassium permanganate after reduction with titanous sulphate, 25:343-345. New Haven, 1908. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 54:213-216. 1907; 57:278-280. 1908; 58:378-380. Hamburg, 1908.)

Professor of Chemistry, Connecticut Agricultural College, Storrs, Conn.

1909

Graham Edgar, B.S. Kentucky State College 1907.

Dissertation: The quantitative estimation of vanadium. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The reduction of vanadic acid by zinc and magnesium, 25:233-238; The determination of vanadic and molybdic acids in the presence of one another, 25:332-334; The estimation of iron and vanadium in the presence of one another, 26:79-82; The iodometric estimation of chromic and vanadic acids in the presence of one another, 26:333-336. New Haven, 1908; The iodometric estimation of vanadic acid, chromic acid and iron in the presence of one another, 27:174-178; The estimation of vanadic and arsenic acids and of vanadic and antimonie acids, in the presence of one another, 27:299-301. Associate Professor of Chemistry, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va.

William Ruthven Flint, B.A. Yale University 1898, M.A. 1906.

Dissertation: The complexity of tellurium. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The quantitative precipitation of tellurium dioxide and its application to the separation of tellurium from selenium, 28:112-118; The complexity of tellurium, 28:347-352. New Haven, 1909; Researches upon the complexity of tellurium, 30:209-219. New Haven, 1910. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 64:104-111, 112-118. 1909; 68:251-262. Hamburg, 1910.)

Consulting Chemist, Pasadena, Cal.

Fred Harvey Heath, B.S. New Hampshire College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts 1905.

Dissertation: The iodometric determination of associated copper, arsenic, and antimony. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The iodometric determination of copper, 24:65-74. New Haven, 1907; The iodometric determination of arsenic and antimony associated with copper, 25:513-519. New Haven, 1908. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 55:119-129. 1907; 59:87-93. Hamburg, 1908.)

Assistant Professor of Chemistry, University of North Dakota, University, N. Dak.

Leonard Merritt Liddle, B.S. Cornell College 1906.

Dissertation: Studies in pyrimidines and researches on halogen amino acids. (Incorporated in papers in American Chemical Journal, as follows: Researches on halogen amino acids: iodine derivatives of paratoluidine; 3, 5-diiod-4-aminobenzoic acid, 42:441-461; Researches on halogen amino acids; iodine derivatives of orthotoluidine. The 3-iodaminobenzoic acids, 42:498-505. Baltimore, 1909.)

Professor of Organic Chemistry, and Armour Research Fellow in Mellon Institute, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

David Ford McFarland, B.A. University of Kansas 1900, M.A. 1901, M.S. Yale University 1903.

Dissertation: Investigation of the action of alkyl halides on some mercapto pyrimidines; and a study of some molecular rearrangements in the amidine and the thiocyanacetanilide series. (Incorporated in papers in American Chemical Journal as follows: Researches on pyrimidines: the preparation of 1, 4-dimethyluracil and of the monobenzyl derivatives of 4-methyluracil, 42:101-115; Researches on pyrimidines: the action of methyl iodide and of benzyl chloride upon 2-oxy-4-methyl-6-methylmercaptopyrimidine, 42:431-440. Baltimore, 1909; Researches on pyrimidines: the thio derivatives of thymine and the preparation of thymine, 43:19-36. Baltimore, 1910.)

Assistant Professor of Applied Chemistry, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

Edwin Ward Tillotson, Jr., B.A. Yale University 1906.

Dissertation: On the synthesis of malonic ester; with special reference to the influence of catalytic agents in the several reactions. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: On the esterification of malonic acid, 26:243-252; On the conversion of cyanacetic ester to malonic ester, 26:257-263; Researches on the influence of catalytic agents in ester formation: On the esterification of cyanacetic acid, 26:264-266; On the preparation of malonic acid or its ester from monochloroacetic acid, 26:267-274; On the preparation of cyanoacetic acid and its ester from monochloroacetic acid, 26:275-280. New Haven, 1908.)

Professor of Applied Chemistry, and Assistant Director of Mellon Institute, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Hiram Lee Ward, B.A. Yale University 1906.

Dissertation: A study of metallic oxalates, with special reference to the separation of copper as the oxalate. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The precipitation of copper oxalate in analysis, 27:448-458. New Haven, 1909; The estimation of lead, nickel, and zinc by precipitation as oxalates and titration with potassium permanganate, 33:334-338; The oxalate-permanganate process for the determination of copper associated with cadmium, arsenic, iron, or lead, 33:423-432. New Haven, 1912. Translation of the first paper in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 62:348-359. Hamburg, 1909.)

Associate Professor of Chemistry, Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.

David Breese Jones, B.A. Ripon College 1904.

Dissertation: The conversion of halides of the general formula, $-X.CH_2.CH\ hal.CH_3$,—into allyl and propenyl compounds. (Published in part as follows: The transformation of allylphthalimide into propenylphthalimide, American Chemical Journal, 45:343-356. Baltimore, 1911.)

Organic Chemist, Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Ralph Walker Langley, Ph.B. Yale University 1902, M.S. 1904.

Dissertation: Studies of the oxides of tantalum and columbium. (Incorporated in papers in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: On an indirect method for determining columbium and tantalum, 30:393-400; Note on a recent method for separating tantalum and columbium, 30:401-402. New Haven, 1910.)

Chemist, Acme Wire Corporation, New Haven, Conn.

Howard Earle Palmer, B.A. Yale University 1907.

Dissertation: The use of potassium ferrocyanide and potassium ferricyanide in analysis: (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: A method for the qualitative separation and detection of ferrocyanides, ferricyanides and sulphocyanides, 23:448-450. New Haven, 1907; On the estimation of cerium in the presence of the other rare earths by the action of potassium ferricyanide, 26:83-84. New Haven, 1909; The application of potassium ferricyanide in alkaline solution to the estimation of arsenic, antimony, and tin, 29:399-403; The application of potassium ferricyanide in alkaline solution to the estimation of vanadium and chromium, 30:141-145. New Haven, 1910. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 54:315-318. 1907; 59:71-73. 1908; 62:218-220. 1909; 67:317-321. Hamburg, 1910.)

Chemist, Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

1911

Rowland Sherwood Bosworth, B.A. Yale University 1908, M.A. 1909.

Dissertation: The rates of solution of certain metals in dissolved iodine, and their relation to the diffusion-theory. (Published in part as follows: On the rates of solution of certain metals in dissolved iodine, and their relation to the diffusion theory, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 32:207-224. New Haven, 1911. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 74:1-20. Hamburg, 1912.)

Physicist for General Memorial Hospital, New York, N. Y.

Carlton Howard Maryott, B.A. Brown University 1904.

Dissertation: On the nature of the reaction between chlorine and benzene in the electrolytic cell. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The use of metallic potassium in determining halogens in benzol derivatives, 30:378-380. New Haven, 1910; On the mechanism of the chlorination of benzene in the electrolytic cell, 35:153-170. New Haven, 1913.)

Professor of Chemistry, Medical Department, University of Georgia, Augusta, Ga.

Claude Clair Perkins, B.A. University of Minnesota 1907, M.A. Yale University 1909.

Dissertation: Molecular silver, and its use in the gravimetric determination of iodine. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The gravimetric determination of free iodine by the action of metallic silver, 28:33-39. New Haven, 1909; The gravimetric determination of free bromine and chlorine, combined iodine, and oxidizing reagents by means of metallic silver, 29:338-340; The use of silver in the determination of molybdenum, vanadium, selenium and tellurium, 29:540-542. New Haven, 1910. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 63:318-324. 1909; 66:432-435. 1910; 67:361-364. Hamburg, 1910.)

Died 1911.

Edwin Jay Roberts, B.S. New Hampshire College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts 1906.

Dissertation: The separation of cerium earths. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: On the substitution of bromine and of iodine for chlorine in the separation of cerium from the other cerium earths, 29:45-46. New Haven, 1910; On the separation of cerium by potassium permanganate, 31:350-352. New Haven, 1911. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 64:302-304. 1909; 71:305-308. Hamburg, 1911.)

Assistant Professor of Analytical Chemistry, Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Samuel Ray Scholes, B.A. Ripon College 1905.

Dissertation: A study of vapor-pressures. (Published in part as follows: The vapor pressure of hydrates, determined from their equilibria with aqueous alcohol, Journal of the American Chemical Society, 33:1309-1326. Easton, Pa., 1911.)

Professor of Applied Chemistry, and Assistant Director of Mellon Institute, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Philip Lee Blumenthal, B.S. State University of Kentucky 1909, M.A. Yale University 1911.

Dissertation: The separation and estimation of chlorine and bromine in halogen salts by the differential action of oxidizers. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The iodic acid process for the determination of bromine in halogen salts, 34:469-474. New Haven, 1912; The use of selenic acid in the determination of bromine associated with chlorine in haloid salts, 35:54-62; The preparation of selenic acid and sodium selenate for use as reagents in the determination of bromine in haloid salts, 35:93-96. New Haven, 1913. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 80:36-42, 161-170. Hamburg, 1913.)

Research Chemist in Soils, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington, Ky.

Charles Andrew Brautlecht, Ph.B. Yale University 1906.

Dissertation: Synthesis of thiotyrosine. (Published in part as follows: Hydantoin: the synthesis of thiotyrosine, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 12:175-196. Baltimore, 1912.)

Professor of Chemistry, Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Fla.

Gerald Burnham, Ph.B. Yale University 1909.

Dissertation: Sulphur combinations in proteins-thiopolypeptides. (Published in revised form in Journal of Biological Chemistry, as follows: Sulphur linkages in proteins, 9:439-448; Thioamides: the formation of thiopolypeptide derivatives by the action of hydrogen sulphide on aminoacetonitrile, 9:449-462. Baltimore, 1911.)

Chemist with E. Burnham, Chicago, Ill.

Charles Raymond Downs, Ph.B. Yale University 1909.

Dissertation: Water-gas tar: its composition and commercial possibilities. (Published as follows: Study of the composition of water gas tar, Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, 6:366-370. Easton, Pa., 1914.)

Chemist, with Barrett Manufacturing Company, New York, N. Y.

Herbert Hartley Guest, Ph.B. Yale University 1908.

Dissertation: Thiohydantoin and their biochemical interest. (Published in revised form in American Chemical Journal, as follows: Hydantoin: the action of potassium thiocyanate on pyrrolidonecarboxylic acid, 2-thiohydantoin-4-propionic acid, 47:242-251; Hydantoin: the action of potassium thiocyanate on asparagine, 48:103-111. Baltimore, 1912.)

Chemist, J. B. Williams Company, Glastonbury, Conn.

Frank Loyal Haigh, B.A. Ripon College 1908.

Dissertation: On certain physical properties of the alkali nitrates, chlorides, and sulphates. (Published as follows: Certain physical properties of the alkali nitrates and chlorides, Journal of American Chemical Society, 34:1137-1159. Easton, Pa., 1912.)

Ripon, Wis.

Charles Hoffman, B.S. University of Kansas 1909.

Dissertation: A new method for synthesizing alpha-amino acids; halogen derivatives of tyrosine. (Published in part as follows: On hydantoin: synthesis of 3, 5-dichlorotyrosine, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 10:147-157. Baltimore, 1911; On hydantoin: the action of bromine on tyrosinehydantoin, American Chemical Journal, 47:20-27. Baltimore, 1912.)

Chief Chemist, Ward Baking Company, New York, N. Y.

Joseph Alfred Ambler, Ph.B. Yale University 1910.

Dissertation: A new method of synthesizing N-alkyl derivatives of α -amino acids. (Published in revised form as follows: The alkylation and hydrolysis of aliphatic sulfonamides. A new synthesis of sarcosine, Journal of the American Chemical Society, 36:372-385. Easton, Pa., 1914.)

Professor of Chemistry, Acadia University, Wolfville, N. S.

Robert Bengis, Ph.B. Yale University 1910.

Dissertation: The synthesis of amino acids related to adrenaline. (Published in modified form as follows: Hydantoin: Syntheses of 3-methoxy-4-hydroxyphenylalanine and 3, 4-dimethoxyphenylalanine, Journal of the American Chemical Society, 35:1606-1617. Easton, Pa., 1913.)

Biochemist, Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Arthur Joseph Hill, Ph.B. Yale University 1910.

Dissertation: The catalytic action of esters in the Claisen condensation. (Published in modified form in Journal of the American Chemical Society, 35:1023-1034. Easton, Pa., 1913; Original Communications, Eighth International Congress of Applied Chemistry, 6:147-156. Washington and New York, 1912.)

Instructor in Industrial Chemistry, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

David Upton Hill, B.A. University of New Brunswick 1908, M.A. Yale University 1911.

Dissertation: Experimental studies on the diffusion theory of reaction velocity. (Published in part as follows: On the influence of alcohol and of cane sugar upon the rate of solution of cadmium in dissolved iodine, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 36:543-554. New Haven, 1913. Translation in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 85:279-291. Hamburg, 1914.)

Instructor in Chemistry, Yale College.

Simon Boghos Kuzirian, B.A. Euphrates College 1902, M.A. Yale University 1911.

Dissertation: The elimination of certain volatile products in chemical analysis. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The use of sodium paratungstate in the determination of carbon dioxide in carbonates and nitrogen pentoxide in nitrates by loss on ignition, 31:497-500. New Haven, 1911; The action of sodium paratungstate in fusion on salts of the halogen acids and oxy-halogen acids, 36:301-304; The use of sodium paratungstate and the blowpipe flame in the determination of acid radicals, 36:305-312; Determination of water of crystallization in sulphates, 36:401-405; The dehydration and recovery of silica in analysis, 36:598-604; A modification of the usual method of correcting silica for included salts, 37:61-64. New Haven, 1913. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 84:319-332. 1913; 85:108-126, 127-132. Hamburg, 1914.)

Assistant Chemist, Iowa State Agricultural College, Ames, Iowa.

George Augustus Linhart, B.S. University of Pennsylvania 1909, M.A. Yale University 1911.

Dissertation: On the kinetics of the decomposition of certain organic and inorganic salts. (Published in the American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: On the hydrolysis of metallic alkyl sulphates. I. Ethyl barium sulphate, 32:51-60. New Haven, 1911; II. Methyl and propyl barium sulphates, 34:289-292; III. Ethyl calcium sulphate and ethyl strontium sulphate, 34:539-542. New Haven, 1912; IV. Sodium, strontium, and barium esters in alkaline solutions, 35:283-289; On the rate of reduction of mercuric chloride by phosphorous acid, 35:353-368. New Haven, 1913. Translation in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 82:1-16. Hamburg, 1913.)

Teaching Fellow in German and Chemistry, University of Washington, Seattle, Wash.

Ben Harry Nicolet, B.A. University of Kansas 1910.

Dissertation: Some derivatives of aminomalonic acid, and their biochemical interest. (Published in revised form in Journal of the American Chemical Society, as follows: I. The formation of pyrimidines from diethyl aminomalonate and amino malonic nitrile, 36:345-355; II. Synthesis of hydantoin-4-carboxamide, 36:355-364. Easton, Pa., 1913.)

Research Chemist, Mellon Institute, University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Norman Arthur Shepard, Ph.B. Yale University 1910.

Dissertation: Researches on pyrimidines: uramils and thio-uramils. (Published in modified form as follows: Researches on pyrimidines: A new method of synthesizing uramils and thio-uramils, Journal of the American Chemical Society, 35:994-1007. Easton, Pa., 1913.)

Instructor in Chemistry, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Lewis Hill Chernoff, Ph.B. Yale University 1911.

Dissertation: Pyrimidine nucleosides. (Published in revised form as follows: Researches on pyrimidines: Synthesis of the pyrimidine nucleoside, 4-hydroxymethyluracil, Journal of the American Chemical Society, 36:1742-1747. Easton, Pa., 1914.)

Organic Chemist, Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Ernest Woodward Dean, B.A. Clark College 1908, M.A. Yale University 1912.

Dissertation: The effect of constitution upon the velocities of hydrolysis of esters of substituted monobasic aliphatic acids. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: On the hydrolysis of esters of substituted aliphatic acids. Ethyl esters of glycolic acid and of methyloxy, ethyloxy and propyloxy acetic acids, 34:293-296. New Haven, 1912; Ethyl esters of lactic acid, glyceric acid, α -ethyloxy and β -ethyloxy propionic acids, 35:486-490; Saponification by sodium hydroxide of hydroxy and alkyloxy acetates and propionates, 35:605-610. New Haven, 1913.)

Junior Organic Chemist, Bureau of Mines, Pittsburgh, Pa.

William Mynn Thornton, Jr., B.A. Hampden-Sidney College 1904, M.A. University of Virginia 1907, M.A. Yale University 1912.

Dissertation: New processes for the analytical separation of titanium from iron, aluminum, and phosphoric acid. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The estimation of titanium in the presence of iron, 34:214-217.

New Haven, 1912; The use of the ammonium salt of nitrosophenylhydroxylamine ("Cupferron") in the quantitative separation of titanium from iron, 37:173-178; The separation of titanium from iron, aluminum, and phosphoric acid with the aid of the ammonium salt of nitrosophenylhydroxylamine ("Cupferron"), 37:407-414. New Haven, 1914. Translations in Zeitschrift für Anorganische Chemie, 79:190-196. 1913; 86:407-412. Hamburg, 1914.)

Chemist, E. I. duPont de Nemours Powder Company, Chester, Pa.

1915

Joseph Sumner Bates, Ph.B. Yale University 1912.

Dissertation: The synthesis of dipeptide-hydantoins, together with a short study of Michigan hardwood tar.

Chemist, Cott-A-Lap Company, Bound Brook, N. J.

Edward Frederick Kohmann, B.A. University of Kansas 1912.

Dissertation: The constitution of mono- and dinitrotyrosine, and the xanthoproteic and Millon's reactions. (Published in Journal of American Chemical Society, as follows: Studies on nitrated proteins: the determination of the structure of nitrotyrosine, 37:1863-1884; the synthesis of 3, 5-dinitrotyrosine, 37:2164-2170. Easton, Pa., 1915.)

Associate in Chemistry in Department of Dairy Husbandry, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

Harley Dyer Minnig, B.A. Yale University 1912.

Dissertation: A method for the separation of aluminium from iron and beryllium with a review of existing methods for the analytical determination of aluminium. Published in part in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: The separation and estimation of aluminium associated with iron, by the action of acetyl chloride in acetoin, 39:197-200. New Haven, 1915; The separation and estimation of aluminium and beryllium by the use of acetyl chloride in acetoin. [In press.]

Chemist, The Solvay Process Company, Syracuse, N. Y.

John Henry Reedy, B.A. Southwestern University 1900, M.A. 1900, M.S. University of Chicago 1914.

Dissertation: Anodic potentials of silver. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: Anodic potentials of silver: I. The determination of the reaction potentials of silver and their significance, 40:281-298; II. Their rôle in the electrolytic estimation of the halogens, 40:400-412. New Haven, 1915.)

Professor of Chemistry, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas.

Blair Saxton, B.A. Wabash College 1912.

Dissertation: The nature of certain precipitated inorganic colloids. (Published in part in Journal of American Chemical Society, as follows: The effect of freezing on certain inorganic hydrogels, 38:588-609. Easton, Pa., 1916.)

Instructor in Chemistry, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Walter Moody Scott, Ph.B. Yale University 1912.

Dissertation: The hydroxyl derivatives of phenylalanine, and their biochemical interest. (Published in Journal of American Chemical Society, as follows: A new synthesis of o-tyrosine, 37:1846-1856; Researches on hydantoins: Synthesis of the hydantoin of 2-hydroxy-5-aminophenylalanine, 37:1856-1863. Easton, Pa., 1915.)

Chemist, Cheney Brothers, Silk Manufacturers, South Manchester, Conn.

Richard Wrenshall, Ph.B. Yale University 1911.

Dissertation: Synthesis of α -amino- δ -phenylvalerianic acid. (Published in Journal of American Chemical Society, as follows: Researches on hydantoins: the condensation of cinnamic aldehyde with hydantoins, 37:2133-2144. Easton, Pa., 1915.)

Manager, Sterling Varnish Company, Pittsburgh, Pa.

IN THE DEPARTMENT OF BOTANY

1899

Alexander William Evans, Ph.B. Yale University 1890.

Dissertation: The Hawaiian hepaticæ of the tribe Jubuloideæ.
(Published in Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, 10:387-462. New Haven, 1900.)

Eaton Professor of Botany, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

1901

Charles Montague Cooke, Jr., B.A. Yale University 1897.

Dissertation: The Hawaiian hepaticæ of the tribe Trigonanthææ.
(Published in Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, 12:1-44. New Haven, 1904.)

Curator of Pulmonata, Bernice Pauahi Bishop Museum of Polynesian Ethnology and Natural History, Honolulu, Hawaii.

1903

Wilton Everett Britton, B.S. New Hampshire College of Agriculture 1893.

Dissertation: Vegetation of the North Haven sand plains. (Published in Bulletin of the Torrey Botanical Club, 30:571-620. Lancaster, Pa., 1903.)

Entomologist, Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, New Haven, Conn., and State Entomologist.

1906

Kate Grace Barber (Mrs. Andrew L. Winton), B.S. Rhode Island State College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts 1903.

Dissertation: Comparative histology of fruits and seeds of certain species of cucurbitaceæ. (Published in Botanical Gazette, 47:263-310. Chicago, 1909.)

Scientific Investigation, Wilton, Conn.

1907

Arthur Harmount Graves, B.A. Yale University 1900.

Dissertation: The morphology of Ruppia maritima. (Published in Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, 14:59-170. New Haven, 1908.)

Scientific Investigation, New Haven, Conn.

1909

George Elwood Nichols, B.A. Yale University 1904.

Dissertation: A morphological study of Juniperus communis var. depressa. (Published in Beihefte zum Botanischen Centralblatt, 25¹:201-241. Dresden, 1910.)

Assistant Professor of Botany, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

1910

Edwin Cyrus Miller, B.A. Yale University 1907.

Dissertation: A physiological study of the germination of Helianthus annuus. (Published in Annals of Botany, 24:693-726. London, 1910.)

Assistant Professor of Botany, Kansas State Agricultural College, and Assistant Plant Physiologist, Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station, Manhattan, Kan.

1911

Neil Everett Stevens, B.A. Bates College 1908, M.A. Yale University 1909.

Dissertation: Observations on heterostylous plants. (Published in Botanical Gazette, 53:277-308. Chicago, 1912.)

Pathologist, Bureau of Plant Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

1912

Marion Graham Elkins, B.S. Rhode Island College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts 1906.

Dissertation: The maturation phases in Smilax herbacea. (Published in Botanical Gazette, 57:32-52. Chicago, 1914.)

Amesbury, Mass.

1915

Henry Daggett Hooker, Jr., B.A. Yale University 1912, M.A. 1913.

Dissertation: Thermotropism and hydrotropism. (Published as follows: Thermotropism in roots, The Plant World, 17:135-153. Baltimore, Md.; Hydrotropism of roots in Lupinus albus, Annals of Botany, 29:265-283. London, 1915.)

Instructor in Botany, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

IN THE DEPARTMENT OF ZOOLOGY AND COMPARATIVE ANATOMY

1867

William North Rice, B.A. Wesleyan University 1865.

Dissertation: The Darwinian theory of the origin of species.
(Published in The New Englander, 26:603-635. New Haven, 1867.)

G. I. Seney Professor of Geology, Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.

1869

George Henry Perkins, B.A. Yale University 1867.

Dissertation: The molluscan fauna of New Haven. (Published as follows: Molluscan fauna of New Haven. A critical review of all the marine, fresh water and land Mollusca of the region, with descriptions of many of the living animals and of two new species, Proceedings of the Society of Natural History, 13:109-164. Boston, 1869.)

Howard Professor of Natural History, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, and Curator of the Museum, University of Vermont, Burlington, Vt.; State Geologist.

1871

Henry Shaler Williams, Ph.B. Yale University 1868.

Dissertation: Comparison of the muscles of the chelonian and human shoulder-girdles. (Published in part in Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, 2:301-308.
New Haven, 1873.)

Professor of Geology, Emeritus, Cornell University, Ithaca,
N. Y.

1890

Edwin Linton, B.A. Washington and Jefferson College 1879.

Dissertation: The anatomy of Thysanocephalum crispum Linton, a parasite of the tiger shark. (Published in Report of the United States Commission of Fish and Fisheries, pt. 16,
543-556. Washington, 1892.)

LeMoyné Professor of Agriculture and Correlative Branches,
Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa.

1895

Wesley Roswell Coe, Ph.B. Yale University 1892.

Dissertation: On the anatomy of a species of nemertean (Cerebratulus lacteus Verrill), with remarks on certain other species. (Published as follows: On the anatomy of a species of nemertean, Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, 9:479-514. New Haven, 1895.)

Professor of Biology, Sheffield Scientific School, and Curator of the Zoological Collection, Yale University.

Willard Gibbs Van Name, B.A. Yale University 1894.

Dissertation: On the embryology of a marine planarian. (Published as follows: The maturation, fertilization, and early development of the planarians, Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, 10:263-300. New Haven, 1899.)

Curator of Zoology, New York State Museum, Albany, N. Y.

Katharine Jeannette Bush.

Dissertation: Descriptions of three new genera and sixteen new species belonging to the tribes Sabellides and Serpulides. (Published as follows: Tubicolous Annelids of tribes Sabellides and Serpulides from the Pacific Ocean, Harriman Alaska Expedition, with coöperation of Washington Academy of Sciences, 12:167-346. New York, 1904.)

175 Bishop St., New Haven, Conn.

Beverly Waugh Kunkel, Ph.B. Yale University 1901.

Dissertation: Studies on the anatomy of the Californian limbless lizard, Anniella pulchra, with a general consideration of the pineal apparatus of the vertebrates. (Published as follows: Studies on the California limbless lizard, Anniella, Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, 12:349-403. New Haven, 1906.)

Professor of Biology, Lafayette College, Easton, Pa.

1907

William Barri Kirkham, B.A. Yale University 1904, M.A. 1906.
Dissertation: The early development of the mammalian egg.
(Published as follows: Maturation of the egg of the white mouse, Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, 13:65-87. New Haven, 1907.)
Instructor in Biology, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

1910

William Harding Longley, B.A. Acadia University 1901, B.A. Yale University 1907, M.A. 1908.
Dissertation: The maturation of the egg and ovulation in the domestic cat. (Published in American Journal of Anatomy, 12:139-168. Philadelphia, 1911.)
Professor of Botany, Goucher College, Baltimore, Md.

1912

Davenport Hooker, B.A. Yale University 1908, M.A. 1909.
Dissertation: The development and function of voluntary and cardiac muscles in embryos without nerves. (Published in Journal of Experimental Zoology, 11:159-186. Philadelphia, 1911.)
Assistant Professor of Anatomy, Medical School, Yale University.

Theophilus Shickel Painter, B.A. Roanoke College 1908, M.A. Yale University 1909.
Dissertation: Spermatogenesis in spiders. (Published in Zoologischen Jahrbüchern, 38:509-571. Jena, 1914.)
Instructor in Biology, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

1914

George Alfred Baitzell, B.S. Central University of Iowa 1908, M.A. Yale University 1909.
Dissertation: Experiments on the reproduction of the Hypotrichous Infusoria. (Published in the Journal of Experimental Zoology, as follows: Conjugation between closely related individuals of Stylonychia pustulata, 13:47-77. Philadelphia, 1912; A study of the so-called life cycle in Oxytricha fallax and Pleurotricha lanceolata, 16:211-235. Philadelphia, 1914.) Instructor in Biology, Yale College.

1915

Stanley Crittenden Ball, Ph.B. Yale University 1911.

Dissertation: The natural history and embryology of the Rhabdocœle, Paravortex gemellipara.

Assistant Curator of Zoology, Peabody Museum, Yale University.

Harold Saxton Burr, Ph.B. Yale University 1911.

Dissertation: The effect of the removal of the nasal pits on the behavior, and on the development of the head, of Amblystoma. (Published in the Journal of Experimental Zoology, as follows: The effects of the removal of the nasal pits in Amblystoma embryos, 20:27-57. Philadelphia, 1916.)

Instructor in Anatomy, Medical School, Yale University.

IN THE DEPARTMENT OF PHYSIOLOGY, PHYSIOLOGICAL CHEMISTRY, BACTERIOLOGY, HYGIENE AND PUBLIC HEALTH

1880

Russell Henry Chittenden, Ph.B. Yale University 1875.

Dissertation: (a) Glycogen and glycocoll in the muscular tissue of Pecten irradians. (b) The oxidation product of glycogen with bromine, silver oxide, and water. (Published in American Journal of Science, 3d series, as follows: (a), 10:26-32. New Haven, 1875; (b), 11:395-401. New Haven, 1876.)

Professor of Physiological Chemistry, and Director of the Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

1887

George Wyckoff Cummins, Ph.B. Yale University 1884, M.D. Columbia University 1890.

Dissertation: Influence of some organic and inorganic substances on gas metabolism. (Published in Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences, 7:406-442. New Haven, 1887.)

Physician, Belvidere, N. J.

1891

Ernest Ellsworth Smith, Ph.B. Yale University 1888, M.D. New York University 1898.

Dissertation: Mucin and the albuminoid basis of stomachical mucus.

Physician and Chemist, New York, N. Y.

George Loveless Amerman, B.A. Yale University 1890.

Dissertation: The influence of dialysis on the action of pepsin-hydrochloric-acid, studied quantitatively. (Published as follows: A comparison of artificial and natural gastric digestion, together with a study of the diffusibility of proteoses and peptone, Journal of Physiology, 14:483-508. Cambridge, England, 1893.)

Librarian, Marcellus Free Library, Marcellus, N. Y.

Frank Sherman Meara, B.A. Yale University 1890, M.D. Columbia University 1895.

Dissertation: A study of the products resulting from the action of water at 130°C.-160°C. on albumin. (Published as follows: A study of the primary products resulting from the action of superheated water on coagulated egg-albumin, Journal of Physiology, 15: 501-534. Cambridge, England, 1894.)

Professor of Therapeutics, Cornell University Medical College, New York, N. Y.

1893

Lafayette Benedict Mendel, B.A. Yale University 1891.

Dissertation: On the proteolysis of crystallized globulin. (Published in Journal of Physiology, 17: 48-80. London, 1894.)

Professor of Physiological Chemistry, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

1894

James Hall Mason Knox, Jr., B.A. Yale University 1892, M.A. Lafayette College 1896, M.D. Johns Hopkins University 1898.

Dissertation: The proteolysis of casein, with special reference to the cleavage of phosphorus; together with a study of paranuclein.

Associate in Clinical Pediatrics, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.

1897

William John Gies, B.S. Pennsylvania College 1893, M.S. 1896, Ph.B. Yale University 1894.

Dissertation: The influence of borax and boric acid on the nutrition of the animal body. (Published in the American Journal of Physiology, 1: 1-39. Boston, 1898.)

Professor of Biological Chemistry, Columbia University, New York, N. Y.

1898

Alice Hopkins Albro (Mrs. Charles A. Barker), B.A. Bryn Mawr College 1890.

Dissertation: The origin and chemical relationship of some products of proteolytic cleavage. (Published in American Journal of Physiology, 1: 307-335. Boston, 1898.)

Died 1904.

Yandell Henderson, B.A. Yale University 1895.

Dissertation: Chémico-physiological studies on the derivatives of the proteids. (Published as follows: A chémico-physiological study of certain derivatives of the proteids, American Journal of Physiology, 2: 142-181. Boston, 1899.)

Professor of Physiology, Medical School, Yale University.

Holmes Condict Jackson, Ph.B. Yale University 1896.

Dissertation: Some observations on the carbohydrates of the liver.

Professor of Physiology and Director of the Physiological Laboratories, University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York, N. Y.

William Huntington Parker, B.S. Worcester Polytechnic Institute 1893.

Dissertation: 1. A study of the alloxuric bases, with especial reference to their origin in the intestine; 2. On the maximum production of hippuric acid in rabbits. (Published in American Journal of Physiology as follows: 1. The occurrence and origin of the xanthine bases in the fæces, 4:83-89. Boston, 1901; 2. On the maximum production of hippuric acid in rabbits, 3: 472-484. Boston, 1900.)

Special Examiner of Drugs, Medicines, and Chemicals, and Assistant Appraiser, Port of Boston, Mass.

Ernest William Brown, Ph.B. Yale University 1897, M.D. George Washington University 1906.

Dissertation: Contribution to the chemistry of the formation of uric acid in man. (Published as follows: The rate of elimination of uric acid in man, Journal of the American Medical Association, 49: 896-901. Chicago, 1907.)

Surgeon, United States Navy, Washington, D. C.

1901

Edward Christian Schneider, B.S. Tabor College 1897.

Dissertation: The excretion of kynurenic acid. (Published in American Journal of Physiology, 5: 427-456. Boston, 1901.)

Head Professor of Biology, Colorado College, Colorado Springs, Col.

Arthur Lyman Dean, B.A. Harvard University 1900.

Dissertation: Studies on inulin and the enzyme inulase. (Published as follows: Experimental studies on inulase, Botanical Gazette, 35:24-35. Chicago, 1903; On inulin, American Chemical Journal, 32:69-84. Baltimore, 1904.)

President, College of Hawaii, Honolulu, Hawaii.

George Arthur Hanford, B.A. Yale University 1898.

Dissertation: Studies on the physiological action of caesium compounds. (Published as follows: A study of the physiological action and toxicology of caesium chloride, American Journal of Physiology, 9:214-237. Boston, 1903.)

Secretary and Treasurer, G. C. Hanford Manufacturing Company, Syracuse, N. Y.

Leo Frederick Rettger, B.A. Indiana University 1896, M.A. 1897.

Dissertation: Experimental studies on the inter-relation of the spleen and pancreas. (Published as follows: Experimental observations on pancreatic digestion and the spleen, American Journal of Physiology, 7:387-404. Boston, 1902.)

Assistant Professor of Bacteriology and Hygiene, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Lyman Brumbaugh Stookey, B.A. Yale University 1900.

Dissertation: Studies on glycogen formation. (Published as follows: On the formation of glycogen from glyco-proteids and other proteids, American Journal of Physiology, 9:138-146. Boston, 1903.)

Professor of Physiology, Medical Department, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, Cal.

1903

Frank Pell Underhill, Ph.B. Yale University 1900.

Dissertation: Further experiments on the physiological action of the proteoses. (Published as follows: New experiments on the physiological action of the proteoses, American Journal of Physiology, 9:345-373. Boston, 1903.)

Professor of Pathological Chemistry, Medical School, and Assistant Professor of Physiological Chemistry, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

George Benjamin White, Ph.B. Yale University 1900.

Dissertation: Purin metabolism and allantoin formation: an experimental study. (Published as follows: On the intermediary metabolism of the purin-bodies: the production of allantoin in the animal body, American Journal of Physiology, 12:85-94. Boston, 1905.)

Assistant Director of Bacteriological Laboratories, Department of Health of the City of New York, Otisville, N. Y.

1904

Silas Palmer Beebe, B.S. Harvard University 1900, M.S. Yale University 1902, M.D. Cornell University 1909.

Dissertation: The effect of alcohol and alcoholic fluids upon the excretion of uric acid in man. (Published in American Journal of Physiology, 12:13-37. Boston, 1905.)

Physician, New York, N. Y.

Elbert William Rockwood, B.S. Amherst College 1884, M.A. 1901, M.D. State University of Iowa 1895.

Dissertation: Studies in nutrition. (Published in American Journal of Physiology, as follows: The utilization of vegetable proteids by the animal organism, 11:355-369. Boston, 1904; The elimination of endogenous uric acid, 12:38-54; On the absorption and utilization of proteids without intervention of the alimentary digestive processes, 12:336-352. Boston, 1905.)

Professor of Chemistry and Toxicology, and Head of Department of Chemistry, State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Ia.

Robert Eccles Swain, B.A. Leland Stanford, Jr., University 1899.

Dissertation: The formation of kynurenic acid by the animal body. (Published in part as follows: Some notable constituents of the urine of the coyote, American Journal of Physiology, 13:30-34. Boston, 1905.)

Professor of Physiological Chemistry, Leland Stanford, Jr., University, Stanford University, Cal.

1905

Harold Cornelius Bradley, B.A. University of California 1900.

Dissertation: The physiology of the gastropod Sycotypus canaliculatus. (Published as follows: Experimental studies on the physiology of the molluscs, American Journal of Physiology, 13: 17-29, 14: 313-327. Boston, 1905; 17: 167-176. Boston, 1906.)

Associate Professor of Physiological Chemistry, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

1906

Robert Banks Gibson, Ph.B. Yale University 1902.

Dissertation: On proteose fever: an experimental study. (Published as follows: Proteoses and fever, Philippine Journal of Science, No. 6, Sec. B, Tropical Medicine, 8: 475-491. Manila, 1913.)

Professor of Physiology, College of Medicine and Surgery, University of Philippines, Manila, P. I.

1907

Philip Henry Mitchell, Ph.B. Yale University 1904.

Dissertation: Purin metabolism in the embryo. (Published in American Journal of Physiology, as follows: Chemical studies on growth.—I. The inverting enzymes of the alimentary tract, especially in the embryo, 20:81-96; Chemical studies on growth.—II. The enzymes involved in purine metabolism in the embryo, 20:97-116. Boston, 1907.)

Assistant Professor of Physiology, Brown University, Providence, R. I.

Tadasu Saiki, M.D. Okayama Medical College 1898, M.S. Yale University 1908.

Dissertation: The chemistry of non-striated muscle. (Published as follows: A chemical study of non-striated mammalian muscle, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 4:483-495. New York, 1908.)

Research Physiological Chemist, Kitayamasaki, Iyo, Japan.

1908

Stanley Rossiter Benedict, B.A. University of Cincinnati 1906.

Dissertation: Experimental studies on the metabolism of magnesium and calcium. (Published as follows: The paths of excretion for inorganic compounds. The excretion of magnesium, American Journal of Physiology, 25: 1-22; The paths of excretion for inorganic compounds. The excretion of calcium, American Journal of Physiology, 25: 23-33. Boston, 1909.)

Professor of Chemistry, Medical College of Cornell University, New York, N. Y.

1909

Arthur Wayland Dox, B.S. University of Pennsylvania 1904, M.A. Columbia University 1905.

Dissertation: The intracellular enzymes of Penicillium and Aspergillus, with especial reference to those of Penicillium camemberti. (Published as follows: The intracellular enzymes of lower fungi, especially those of Penicillium camemberti, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 6: 461-467. Baltimore, 1909; also, Bureau of Animal Industry, Bulletin 120, Washington, 1910.)

Chief in Chemistry, Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station, Ames, Ia.

George Edward Gage, B.A. Clark University 1906, M.A. Yale University 1907.

Dissertation: Studies on the biology and chemistry of nitroso bacteria. (Published as follows: Biological and chemical studies on nitroso bacteria, Centralblatt für Bakteriologie, 2. Abteilung, 27: 7-48. Jena, 1910.)

Associate Professor of Animal Pathology, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, Mass.

Warren Witherell Hilditch, Ph.B. Yale University 1905.

Dissertation: Studies on the influence of alcohol upon metabolism. (Published as follows: The influence of alcohol upon nitrogenous metabolism in men and animals, American Journal of Physiology, 27: 1-23. Boston, 1910.)

Pathologist, and Director of Graves Laboratory, Orange Memorial Hospital, Orange, N. J.

Israel Simon Kleiner, Ph.B. Yale University 1906.

Dissertation: Studies in intermediary metabolism—the physiological action of some pyrimidines.. (Published as follows: The physiological action of some pyrimidine compounds of the barbituric acid series, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 11: 443-470. Baltimore, 1912.)

Associate in Physiology and Pharmacology, Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York, N. Y.

John Franklin Lyman, B.S. Massachusetts Agricultural College 1905.

Dissertation: Experimental studies on the metabolism of the purines in the mammalian organism. (Published as follows: The metabolism of some purine compounds in the rabbit, dog, pig, and man, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 8: 115-143. Baltimore, 1910.)

Professor of Agricultural Chemistry, Ohio State University, Columbus, O.

Victor Caryl Myers, B.A. Wesleyan University 1905, M.A. 1907

Dissertation: The chemistry and physiology of the pyrimidines thymine, cytosine, and uracil. (Published as follows: The metabolism of some pyrimidine derivatives, American Journal of Physiology, 26: 77-105. Boston, 1910.)

Professor of Pathological Chemistry, New York Post-Graduate Hospital and Medical School, New York, N. Y.

Mary Davies Swartz (Mrs. Anton R. Rose), B.L. Denison University 1901, B.S. Columbia University 1906.

Dissertation: Nutrition investigations on the carbohydrates of lichens, algae, and related substances. (Published in Transactions of the Connecticut Academy of Arts and Sciences 16: 247-382. New Haven, 1911.)

Assistant Professor of Household Arts, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, N. Y.

Edward Monroe Bailey, Jr., Ph.B. Yale University 1900, M.S. 1905.

Dissertation: Biochemical and bacteriological studies on the banana. (Published as follows: Studies on the banana, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 1: 355-361. New York, 1905; Biochemical and bacteriological studies on the banana, Journal of the American Chemical Society, 34: 1706-1730. Easton, 1912.)

Assistant Chemist, Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, New Haven, Conn.

Alice Frances Blood, B.S. Massachusetts Institute of Technology 1903.

Dissertation: The proteolytic enzymes in certain plants. (Published in Journal of Biological Chemistry as follows: Some peculiarities of the proteolytic activity of papain, 8: 177-213.)

The crepsin of the cabbage (Brassica oleracea), 8:215-225. Baltimore, 1910.)

Associate Professor of Household Economics, Simmons College, Boston, Mass.

1911

Morris Seide Fine, Ph.B. Yale University 1908.

Dissertation: Experimental studies on the utilization of vegetable proteins in man and animals. (Published in Journal of Biological Chemistry, as follows: Studies in nutrition. I. The utilization of the proteins of wheat, 10:303-325; Studies in nutrition. II. The utilization of the proteins of barley, 10:339-343; Studies in nutrition. III. The utilization of the proteins of corn, 10:345-352; Studies in nutrition. IV. The utilization of the proteins of the legumes, 10:433-458; Studies in nutrition. V. The utilization of the proteins of cotton seed, 11:1-3; Studies in nutrition. VI. The utilization of the proteins of extractive-free meat powder; and the origin of fecal nitrogen, 11:5-26. Baltimore, 1911.)

Adjunct Professor of Pathological Chemistry, New York Post-Graduate Hospital and Medical School, New York, N. Y.

William Cuming Rose, B.S. Davidson College 1907.

Dissertation: Studies in intermediary metabolism; mucic acid and carbohydrate metabolism; the physiology of creatine and creatinine elimination, their relation to carbohydrate metabolism. (Published in Journal of Biological Chemistry as follows: Mucic acid and intermediary carbohydrate metabolism, 10:123-138; Experimental studies on creatine and creatinine. I. The rôle of the carbohydrates in creatine-creatinine metabolism, 10:213-253; Experimental studies on creatine and creatinine. II. Inanition and the creatine content of muscle, 10:255-264; Experimental studies on creatine and creatinine. III. Excretion of creatine in infancy and childhood, 10:265-270. Baltimore, 1911.)

Professor of Biological Chemistry, Medical Department, University of Texas, Galveston, Texas.

Louise Stanley, B.S. University of Nashville 1903, B.Ed. University of Chicago 1906, M.A. Columbia University 1907.

Dissertation: The occurrence of purine enzymes in the tissues of invertebrates and lower vertebrates.

Associate Professor of Home Economics, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.

Amy Louise Daniels, B.S. Columbia University 1906.

Dissertation: Fat-transport and metabolism, studied with the aid of fat-soluble dyes. (Published as follows: The behavior of fat-soluble dyes and stained fat in the animal organism, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 13:71-95. Baltimore, 1912.) Associate Professor of Home Economics, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

Robert Curtis Lewis, Ph.B. Yale University 1909.

Dissertation: The rate of elimination of nitrogen as influenced by diet-factors. (Published in Journal of Biological Chemistry, 16:19-77. Baltimore, 1913.) Assistant Professor of Physiology and Physiological Chemistry, School of Medicine, University of Colorado, Boulder, Col.

Howard Bishop Lewis, B.A. Yale University 1908.

Dissertation: The behavior of some hydantoin and thiohydantoin derivatives in the organism, together with a study of certain related sulphur compounds. (Published in Journal of Biological Chemistry as follows: The behavior of some hydantoin derivatives in metabolism, Part I, 13:347-356. Baltimore, 1912; Part II, 14:245-256. Baltimore, 1913; The reaction of some purine, pyrimidine, and hydantoin derivatives with the uric acid and phenol reagents of Folin and Denis, 16:369-373. Baltimore, 1913-14.) Associate in Physiological Chemistry, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

Willis Clarke Noble, Jr., Ph.B. Yale University 1906, M.E. 1910.

Dissertation: Some investigations into the distribution and habitat of the tetanus bacillus. (Published as follows: An experimental study of the distribution and habitat of the tetanus bacillus, Journal of Infectious Diseases, 16:132-141. Chicago, 1915.) Lecturer in Bacteriology, and Assistant Director of Bacteriological Laboratory, University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York, N. Y.

Ruth Wheeler, B.A. Vassar College 1899.

Dissertation: Nutrition experiments with mice. (Published as follows: Feeding experiments with mice, Journal of Experimental Zoology, 15:209-223. Baltimore, 1913.)

Associate in Household Science, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

1914

Norman Robert Blatherwick, B.S. Grinnell College 1909, M.S. University of Illinois 1912.

Dissertation: The specific rôle of foods in relation to the composition of the urine. (Published in Archives of Internal Medicine, 14:409-450. Chicago, 1914.)

Physiological Chemist, Bureau of Animal Industry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Samuel Goldschmidt, Ph.B. Yale University 1911.

Dissertation: The metabolism of an isomer of xanthine and some isomers of the methylxanthines. (Published in Journal of Biological Chemistry, 19:83-104. Baltimore, 1914.)

Instructor in Pathology, Johns Hopkins Medical School, Baltimore, Md.

Albert Garland Hogan, B.A. University of Missouri 1907, B.S. 1909, M.A. 1912.

Dissertation: Studies on the parental utilization and metabolism of sugars. (Published in Journal of Biological Chemistry, as follows: (a) The parental utilization of disaccharide sugars, 18:485-496. Baltimore, 1914; (b) The influence of hydrazine on the utilization of dextrose, 20:203-210; (c) The influence of hydrazine on the glyoxalase activity of the liver, 20:211-215. Baltimore, 1915.)

Assistant in Animal Nutrition, Kansas Agricultural College, Manhattan, Kan.

Joel Andrew Sperry, 2d, B.A. Yale University 1908, M.S. 1912.

Dissertation: A biochemical study of the behavior of bacteria towards pure unchanged animal and vegetable proteins. (Published as follows: The behavior of bacteria towards purified animal and vegetable proteins, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 20:445-459. Baltimore, 1915.)

Instructor in Bacteriology, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

David Wright Wilson, B.S. Grinnell College 1910, M.S. University of Illinois 1912.

Dissertation: The chemistry of the nitrogenous extractives of muscle tissue. (Published in Journal of Biological Chemistry as follows: The comparative chemistry of muscle: the partition of non-protein water-soluble nitrogen, 17: 385-400; The comparative chemistry of muscle: betaine from the scallop, periwinkle and lamprey: creatine from the lamprey, 18: 17-20. Baltimore, 1914.)

Assistant in Physiological Chemistry, Johns Hopkins Medical School, Baltimore, Md.

1915

Emil Jacob Baumann, B.S. College of the City of New York 1912.

Dissertation: The question of fat-absorption from the stomach. (Published as follows: The question of fat absorption from the mammalian stomach, Journal of Biological Chemistry, 22:165-190. Baltimore, 1915.)

Assistant in Physiological Chemistry, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University.

Isaac Faust Harris, B.S. University of North Carolina 1900, M.S. 1903.

Dissertation: Chemical and physiological studies of the castor bean and soy bean.

Chemist, Bronxville, N. Y.

Byron Murray Hendrix, B.S. Ohio State University 1909.

Dissertation: Studies in the physiological action of some protein derivatives. (Published as follows: Studies on the physiological action of some protein derivatives. I. Are zeoses and gliadoses physiologically active? II. The relation of racemization to the physiological action of proteins and proteoses; III. The physiological action of Vaughan's "Crude Soluble Poison," Journal of Biological Chemistry, 22:443-470. Baltimore, 1915.)

Instructor in Physiological Chemistry, Medical School, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.

Raymond Louis Stehle, B.A. Ohio State University 1912, M.A. 1913.

Dissertation: The rôle of the digestive glands in the excretion of endogenous uric acid. (Published in Journal of Biological Chemistry, 22:215-232. Baltimore, 1915.)

Instructor in Physiological Chemistry, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.

IN THE DEPARTMENT OF THE GEOLOGICAL SCIENCES

1867

William North Rice, B.A. Wesleyan University 1865.
[See Department of Zoology and Comparative Anatomy.]

1869

George Henry Perkins, B.A. Yale University 1867.
[See Department of Zoology and Comparative Anatomy.]

1871

Bernard James Harrington, B.A. McGill University 1869.
[See Department of Chemistry.]

Henry Shaler Williams, Ph.B. Yale University 1868.
[See Department of Zoology and Comparative Anatomy.]

1876

Edward Salisbury Dana, B.A. Yale University 1870, M.A. 1874.
Dissertation: Trap rocks of the Connecticut Valley. (Published in part in Proceedings of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, 1874, pt. 2:45-47. Salem, 1875.)
Professor of Physics, Yale College, and Curator of the Min-eralogical Collection, Peabody Museum, Yale University.

1880

George Bird Grinnell, B.A. Yale University 1870.
Dissertation: The osteology of Geococcyx californianus.
Writer, 238 East 15th St., New York, N. Y.

1885

Samuel Wendell Williston, B.S. Kansas Agricultural College
1872, M.D. Yale University 1880.

Dissertation: Synopsis of the North American Syrphidæ.
(Published as Bulletin 31, United States National Museum, Washington, 1886.)
Professor of Paleontology, University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.

1887

Erwin Hinckley Barbour, B.A. Yale University 1882.

Dissertation: The osteology of the Heloderma.

Head Professor of Geology and Curator of the University
Museum, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.; State Geologist.

1889

Charles Emerson Beecher, B.S. University of Michigan 1878.

Dissertation: Brachiospongidæ: a memoir on a group of Silurian sponges. (Published as Memoirs of the Peabody Museum of Yale University, Vol. 2, pt. 1, New Haven, 1889.)

Died 1904.

Edmund Otis Hovey, B.A. Yale University 1884.

Dissertation: Observations on some of the trap ridges of the East Haven-Branford region. (Published in part in American Journal of Science, 3d series, 38:361-383. New Haven, 1889.)

Curator of Geology and Invertebrate Paleontology, American Museum of Natural History, New York, N. Y.

1891

Oliver Cummings Farrington, B.S. Maine State College 1881,
M.S. 1888.

Dissertation: Crystallized azurite from Arizona. (Published in American Journal of Science, 3d series, 41:300-307. New Haven, 1891.)

Curator of Geology, Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, Ill.

1894

George Herbert Girty, B.A. Yale University 1892.

Dissertation: A partial revision of the fauna of the Lower Helderberg group. (Published as follows: A revision of the sponges and cœlenterates of the Lower Helderberg group of

New York, New York State Museum, 48th Annual Report, 1894, 2:259-321. Albany, 1895; Fourteenth Annual Report of the New York State Geological Survey, 1894:259-321. Albany, 1895.)

Geologist, United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

1895

Edwin Horace Forbes, Ph.B. Yale University 1874.

Dissertation: On the epidote from Huntington, Massachusetts. (Published as follows: On the epidote from Huntington, Mass., and the optical properties of epidote, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 1:26-30. New Haven, 1896.)
Superintendent of Schools, Torrington, Conn.

Joseph Hyde Pratt, Ph.B. Yale University 1893.

Dissertation: Northupite; pirssonite, a new mineral; gaylussite; and hanksite, from Borax Lake, San Bernardino County, California. (Published in American Journal of Science as follows: On the double halides of caesium, rubidium, sodium and lithium with thallium, 3d series, 49:397-404. New Haven, 1895; On northupite; pirssonite, a new mineral; gaylussite and hanksite, from Borax Lake, San Bernardino County, California, 4th series, 2:123-135. New Haven, 1896.)
State Geologist of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.

1898

George Francis Eaton, B.A. Yale University 1894.

Dissertation: The prehistoric fauna of Block Island, as indicated by its ancient shell heaps. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 6:137-159. New Haven, 1898.)
Instructor in Comparative Osteology, Curator of the Osteological Collection, and Associate Curator in Vertebrate Paleontology, Yale University.

Herbert Ernest Gregory, B.A. Yale University 1896.

Dissertation: Geology of the Aroostook volcanic area of Maine. (Published as follows: Contributions to the geology of Maine. Part 2, Geology of the Aroostook volcanic area, including an account of the clastic rocks of Aroostook County, United States Geological Survey, Bulletin 165:93-188. Washington, 1900.)

Silliman Professor of Geology, Yale College.

Edward Martin Kindle, B.A. Indiana University 1893, M.S. Cornell University 1896.

Dissertation: The Devonian and Lower Carboniferous faunas of southern Indiana and central Kentucky. (Published in Bulletins of American Paleontology, as Vol. 3, No. 12, Ithaca, 1899.)

Paleontologist in charge of Invertebrate Paleontology, Geological Survey of Canada, Ottawa, Canada.

Charles Hyde Warren, Ph.B. Yale University 1896.

Dissertation: Investigations in mineralogy and crystallography, including a description of four new minerals from Franklin, N. J. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: Some new minerals from the zinc mines at Franklin, N. J., and note concerning the chemical composition of ganomalite, 8:339-353. New Haven, 1899; Mineralogical notes, 11:369-373. New Haven, 1901.)

Professor of Mineralogy, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, Mass.

Joseph Barrell, B.S. Lehigh University 1892, M.S. 1897.

Dissertation: The geology of the Elkhorn District, Montana. (Published as follows: Physical effects of contact metamorphism, American Journal of Science, 4th series, 13:279-296. New Haven, 1902; Microscopical petrography of the Elkhorn mining district, Jefferson County, Montana, 22d Annual Report of the United States Geological Survey, Pt. 2:511-549. Washington, 1901.)

Professor of Structural Geology, Yale College.

Herdman Fitzgerald Cleland, B.A. Oberlin College 1894.

Dissertation: A study of fossil faunas in the Hamilton stage of New York. (Published as follows: A study of the fauna of the Hamilton formation of the Cayuga Lake section in central New York, United States Geological Survey, Bulletin 206, Washington, 1903.)

Professor of Geology, Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.

George Reber Wieland, B.S. Pennsylvania State College 1893.
Dissertation: Osteology of some fossil turtles. A study of American fossil cycads: 1, Geological distribution; 2, Structure of the leaf. (Included in his American fossil cycads, Carnegie Institution, Publication No. 34, Washington, 1906.)
Research Associate, Carnegie Institution, Washington; Lecturer in Paleobotany, Graduate School, Yale University.

Stuart Weller, B.S. Cornell University 1894.

Dissertation: Studies of the Paleozoic faunas of the interior continental basin of North America. (A collection of published papers as follows: A bibliographic index of North American Carboniferous invertebrates, Bulletin of the United States Geological Survey, No. 153, Washington, 1898; Report on the fossils from the Wichita Mountains, Bulletin of the Geological Society of America, 11:142-144. Rochester, 1899; The Paleontology of the Niagaran limestone in the Chicago area, The Crinoidea, Chicago Academy of Sciences, Bulletin No. 4, Pt. 1 of the Natural History Survey, Chicago, 1900; with eighteen others published from 1895 to 1898, but not specifically mentioned here.)

Professor of Paleontologic Geology, University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.

1903

Edgar Roscoe Cumings, B.A. Union University 1897.

Dissertation: The morphogenesis of Platystrophia: a study of the evolution of a Paleozoic brachiopod. (Published in American Journal of Science, 4th series, 15:1-48, 121-136. New Haven, 1903.)

Professor, and Head of the Department, of Geology, Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.

William Ebenezer Ford, Ph.B. Yale University 1899.

Dissertation: Investigations in mineralogy. (A collection of papers published in the American Journal of Science, 4th series, as follows: Siliceous calcites from the Bad Lands, Washington County, South Dakota, 9:352-354; On some interesting developments of calcite crystals, 10:237-244.
